UNIVERSITY BILL

JOHN E. REDMOND.

For Ireland Passed by House of Commons

LONDON, July 25.—The Irish university bill was passed in the house of commons today by 207 votes to 19 amid loud cheering from the nationalists. The bill passed its second reading May 11 of this year. It came as a result of the agitation by the Irish parliamentary party under the leadership of John E. Redmond.

The central idea of the measure is to be found by royal charter two new universities in Ireland with headquarters in Dublin and Belfast. Parliament today followed the usual course of sitting on Saturday in order to dispose of important business so that adjournment may be had next week for the summer holidays.

THE IRISH LEAGUE FOR NON-SUPPORT

Secures Dan O'Leary

John E. Byrd in Court Today

The committee on the "Ho for the Beach" excursion of the United Irish league met last night and perfected arrangements for the annual event which takes place next Thursday, July 30, from Lowell to Revere.

Pres. Michael J. Rourke is general manager and Peter Desmond secretary. The headquarters for the day will be at the Metropolitan hotel and all who take in the excursion will be guaranteed seats in the cars and a good time at the beach.

The committee, after negotiating for some weeks, received word last night from Dan O'Leary, the champion walker of the world, that he will give an exhibition walk for the Irish league at Wonderland at 4 p. m. on the day of the excursion.

As Mr. O'Leary is the best and most graceful walker in the world, it is expected that thousands will be there to see him. He is the only man who walked 1000 miles in 1000 hours and who beat all competitors in a square heel and toe walk.

He will accompany the excursion party to the beach in a special car with the committee. There will be a meeting of the league in A. O. H. hall on Sunday evening.

Admission to Wonderland is free and the management has made special arrangements to make things pleasant for the party. See ad.

BANDITS, BEWARE!
If they come this way the Lowell bartender is prepared for them

SALOONS LOADED

For Bandits and Bartenders are Nervous

PADLOCKS ON CASH REGISTERS

And Loaded Revolvers Within Easy Reach

For the protection of bandits in type similar to the trio that shot up the booze joint in Jamaica Plain and fled toward a cemetery in order to save funeral expenses, it would be well to post signs on the outskirts of this city warning such desperadoes to keep away, not that we fear them but because we want to be spared the trouble and annoyance of killing and burying them.

It would be well, perhaps, to have the signs read something like this: "Abandon hope all ye bandits who enter here, for this is the Valley of Death for those who seek money at the pistol's point." Another might read: "Bandit, back! This avenue leads but to the grave." A few of these signs would not be amiss in the barrooms for we assume that the barrooms would be the point of attack were bandits careless and reckless enough to enter here.

This is not meant as a hot-air bombast, or velvet-cushioned tribute to the splendid efficiency or great bravery of our police department, for that would be absolutely silly, and should the point of attack be anywhere outside a barroom we're willing to swallow our head and take back everything that has been said relative to quick deaths for bandits in Lowell.

Anxious to know just what the local peddlers of the foamy, sometimes known as bartenders, would do in case of a shoot up such as occurred in Boston, a representative of The Sun visited a number of the juke parlors yesterday and, strange as it may seem, went home sober.

The reporter made the tour of the saloons and with few exceptions he found them loaded to the muzzle, and quite a number of the fellows wearing white coats and white aprons looked as if they would rather shoot than draw beer. They looked the goods and it was the scribe's unexpressed opinion that they had missed their calling. They should be getting ready to accompany Teddy to Africa. The places visited looked more like arsenals than anything else. They certainly didn't look like hot day life saving stations. A fellow carrying a file in his hand, entered one of the saloons visited. The fellow's face was covered with soot and he looked a bit suspicious. He raised the file to lay it on the bar preparatory to purchasing a drink but the file hadn't touched the bar before he was covered with two ugly looking guns backed by steady nerves and backed with homely faces. He was ordered to throw up his hands and he did, file and all. The excited line clerks on realizing their mistake excused themselves and incidentally advised the fellow to conceal the file and wash his face. That fellow's family, if he has any, may never know the narrow escape that was his but yesterday.

In one of the swell places the scribe having had his courage augmented to a certain extent, made bold to ask how it was that all of the "rest awhile" joints had been converted into arsenals. The bar boy that the scribe threw this question at was as fine a looking fellow as one would see in a minute's walk and in whispered tones he told the scribe that the saloons are loaded for bandits and intend to do their own shooting. The cops keep away when there is any shooting going on. They carry guns but couldn't hit a load of hay. If the bandits were handiwork some of the cops could do a great job on them with the stick.

HANGED HIMSELF

In the Room Where He Had Worked

Achille Rochaleau Found Hanging Dead in Cady's Machine Shop This Morning Having Been There All Night — Had Lost His Job on Wednesday

A workman at the machine shop of George L. Cady & Sons, Fletcher street and Western avenue, upon entering a planer room in the lower end of the building about 6.30 o'clock, was horrified to see the body of a dead man hanging by the neck on a rope attached to an overhead shaft.

He quickly cut down the body which had evidently been there some hours, and at once recognized the victim as Achille Rochaleau, aged 46 years, who up to Wednesday had been employed by the concern for the past five years as a planer hand.

The body was removed by Undertaker O'Donnell and was later taken in charge by Undertaker Archambeault, who will have charge of the interment. Rochaleau resided at 5 Howard street and is survived by a widow and five children. Up to within a short time ago he had worked steadily at Cady's, but started drinking and his condition became such that it was necessary to discharge him. He was in court on Thursday and was placed under a suspended sentence of one month in jail for drunkenness. When last seen yesterday he was in a pitiable condition, both mentally and physically, and undoubtedly was irresponsible when he committed the rash act.

None could tell at Cady's when the unfortunate man entered the building but he must have gone in between the hours of 6 and 9 last evening. A portion of the help worked all night last night, and the shop was open between 6 and 9.

The room in which the body was found was not used by the workmen during the night and hence the failure to discover the body until this morning. As Rochaleau had worked in this room for five years he could find his way through it in the dark without attracting attention.

DR. FLINT DEAD

As Result of Being Struck By An Auto

NEW YORK, July 25.—Dr. Carlton Flint, a noted physician of this city, who was knocked down by a speeding automobile at Seabright, N. J., last night, died today from his injuries. Dr. Flint was waiting to take a train to New York when the accident occurred. It required several men to raise the heavy machine from the unconscious physician and he was removed to the home of Dr. Gill Wiley on the Rumson road at Seabright. The chauffeur of the automobile, Louis Lefrancols in the employ of John W. Masury, a paint manufacturer of New York, was arrested. Mr. Masury said Lefrancols did not have his permission to use the car last night. He refused to offer bail for the man and said he would not interfere in his behalf. Dr. Flint's family, who have been spending the summer in New Hampshire, were notified of the accident and are hastening to Seabright. Dr. Carlton Flint was well known in his profession in New York, was a graduate of Harvard university and was connected with Roosevelt hospital and numerous medical societies.

AMERICA'S TRIUMPH

Grand Showing Made by Athletes in Marathon Race

Dorando's Great Exhibition of Pluck Wins Him Praise—Forshaw of Missouri Gives Story of the Contest

LONDON, July 25.—It is considered generally that the Marathon race is not only a triumph for the United States, but, in a larger sense, for America, because seven of the leaders at the end were from North America. The three Canadians, Wood (an Indian), Shurston and Lawson, finished in fifth, sixth and seventh places respectively, and, with the representatives of the United States, deprived England of its claim to leadership in the long-distance running branch of athletics.

The crisis in a battle on which the life of a nation hung could hardly have been more impressive than Dorando's entrance into the stadium. Ten minutes before the megaphone announced "the runners are in sight," guns had proclaimed the arrival of the leaders at the nearest station of the course; an intense silence overhung the stadium, while the thousands awaited breathlessly the approach of the first man.

For these ten minutes all eyes were focused on the gate, almost directly opposite the royal stand, where the contestants were to enter. Finally, after what seemed to be an interminable suspense, a runner staggered down the incline leading to the track. He was clothed in a white shirt and red knickerbockers.

He stood for a moment as though dazed, and then turned to the left, although a red cord had been drawn about the track in the opposite direction for the runners to follow.

It was evident at once to everyone that the man was practically delirious. A squad of officials ran out and expostulated with him, but apparently he was afraid that they were trying to deceive him, and fought to go on to the left. At length he turned about and started on the right path along the track.

Then followed an exhibition never to be forgotten by anyone who witnessed it. The colors and the number told the spectators that it was Dorando and his name was on every lip. He staggered along the cinder path like a man in a dream, his gait being neither a walk nor a run, but simply a flounder, his arms working and his legs tottering.

By devious ways he pressed on. People had thought of his nationality, ally, and partisanship was forgotten. They rose in their seats and saw only this small man staggering onward with his head so bent forward that his chin rested on his chest. They knew nothing of him, as he had not been mentioned among the probable winners, but they realized that his effort must have been a desperate one to bring him thus right to the threshold of victory.

Dorando staggered on toward the turn and dropped to the ground. Immediately a crowd of track officials and followers swarmed about him. It was evident that the man, with undaunted courage, had run to the very limit of his endurance.

None expected to see him rise, for, haggard and drawn, he had fallen like a good soldier when the last degree of vitality was exhausted.

According to the rules of the race, he was out.

JOHN J. HAYES.

Of the Irish-American A. C. of New York. Winner of the Olympic Marathon run at London yesterday.

All the troubles of the past two weeks in this momentous triumph. "Wasn't it great," said Manager Italia, who continued: "We not only won the big race of the Olympic games, but also a third, fourth and ninth places, and what is more, our man beat the much heralded Canadian Indian, Longboat. Well, we can forget what has gone before, although we will always feel that we have been unfairly treated."

The other events in the stadium were tame compared with the Marathon, although they added to the victories of the American team of athletes. In the pole vault, A. C. Gilbert of Yale and E. T. Cooke of Cornell tied for first place with 12 feet 2 inches, and the gold and silver medals go to America, while C. S. Jacobs, University of Chicago, tied with Sonderstrom of Sweden, and Archibald of Canada for third with a vault of 11 feet 9 inches. America also captured all the heats in the 110 metre hurdle race, insuring all the places in the final of that event which will be run tomorrow. The Americans also won their heat in the 1600 metres relay race, defeating the teams of the United Kingdom and Canada, and will run in the final against Hungary and Germany.

Sweden captured all three prizes in the high diving; the United Kingdom won the 200 metres team swimming race, and the catch-as-catch-can light to 147 pounds wrestling. The Grace Roman heavy weight wrestling went to Hungary; the sabre and epee individual fencing was won by Eusebi of Hungary, and the fencing epee individual competition by Albert of France.

At the government's banquet to the foreign representatives and the council of the Olympics, held last night at the Grosvenor gallery, it was announced by Lord Desborough, chairman of the council, that Queen Alexandra has expressed a desire to present a cup to Dorando as a mark of her appreciation for his fine performance. This was greeted with cheers, as was also Lord Desborough's high tribute to the Italian runner.

Lewis Harcourt presided and a number of diplomats and high government officials attended. Sir Edward Grey, the secretary for foreign affairs, in toasting the king, referred to his majesty's strong interest in national and international sports, and said that it was possible the ministers, out of sympathy for the Olympic games, would have prorogued parliament before they began.

The members of the American team will scatter all over Europe after the conclusion of the games today. The Irish-American team will visit Ireland on Aug. 1, and will then go from there to Scandinavia. They will attend the meetings at Stockholm, Norrköping and Malmö, and may go to France before they return home.

HAYES TALKS.

Hayes, the winner of the Marathon, in an interview last night, said: "I took nothing to eat or drink on the journey. I think to do so is a great mistake. Before starting I partook of a light lunch, consisting of two ounces of beef, two slices of toast and a cup of tea. During the race I merely bathed my face with Florida water and gargled my throat with brandy."

"I ran my own race throughout, covering in almost mechanical fashion the first five or six miles at a rate of six minutes per mile. After that I went as hard as I could to the finish. Ten miles from home I was ten minutes behind the leader and then I began to go through the field. I passed Hofferson on nearing the stadium but saw nothing of Dorando until I entered the arena. I do not smoke, and drink only in moderation."

Dorando, who was almost too weak to answer questions when seen last night, said:

"I felt all right until I entered the stadium. When I heard the people cheering and knew I had nearly won, a thrill passed through me and I felt my strength going. I fell down but tried to struggle to the tape, but fell again."

"I never lost consciousness of what was going on, and if the doctors had not ordered the attendants to pick me up, I believe I could have finished unaided."

Dorando is a confectioner, who resides on the island of Capri. He trained himself for the race without any supervision. He is, however, the Italian long distance champion and won the Paris Marathon race last year around the fortifications. He hopes to compete again in that race on August 15.

Yesterday morning he had a meal of beefsteak and a cup of coffee with a view of building up his strength for the strain. It was a larger breakfast than he had been accustomed to and he is inclined to think now that this breach of the ordinary rule may have had something to do with his collapse.

SCENE IN STADIUM.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in describing the scene in the stadium said: "I think in that great assembly not any man could have wished to see victory turn at the last instant from the plucky little Italian. Thank God he legs going down the track. The little red legs, hard driven by the supreme will within. There is a groan as he falls again, a cheer as he re-sluggers to his feet. It is horrible, yet fascinating, this struggle between a set purpose and an utterly exhausted frame—surely he is done now; he cannot rise again. From under the archway has started a second runner, Hayes, the stars and stripes on his breast, going gallantly and well within his strength. There are only twenty yards left. The Italian can do it. He staggers up, no trace of intelligence upon his set face and again the red legs break into their strange automatic amble. Will he fall again? No, he sways and balances; then he is through the tape into a grove of friendly arms. He has done to the extreme of humane endurance."

No Roman of prime has ever borne himself better; the great breed is not yet extinct."

Then, after a tribute to the American's finish performance and a lament over the Britisher's failure, Sir Conan Doyle, referring to the judges award of the victory to Hayes, says: "I confess I cannot see how the judges could have come to any other decision and yet the tragedy remains. It was, as matters stood, a fair and square win for the American, since without help Dorando must have lain senseless on the track."

In his general reference to the American athletes, Sir Conan says: "These Americans specialize, and yet they retain the remarkable appearance of all-around excellence. There is no hypertrophy of special muscles; all is symmetry and balance beauty and grace. The theorist might suppose the evolution of a type meagre in body and powerful in quarters. There is no sign of it."

FINAL SESSION

Of National Monetary Conference

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., July 25.—When today's sessions of the conference which is to be held by the national monetary commission to devise plans for currency legislation met it was expected by many of the members that they would be the last of the present gathering and an effort was made to finish the work of allotting sub-committees to the consideration of various recommendations which the meetings of the conference thus far have brought out. Should the meetings extend through next week the commission already about one-third short of its capacity as originally appointed will probably be still further depleted by the departure of several of the members who have made arrangements to leave for their homes and elsewhere.

The secret meetings of the past week have precluded of any authoritative announcements as to the progress of the commission's work but it is understood that Senator Aldrich will prepare a public statement at the close of the conference.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Carillon council, L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, met last night. President Joseph F. Montminy presided and the attendance of members was very large. The report of the auditors was read, showing that the council has made great progress during the last six months.

Edmond Martel, the treasurer, presented his resignation in view of the fact that he is now residing in Lawrence, and naturally is unable to give the time necessary to the duties of the important office. X. J. Dufort, being nominated to take his place, his election and installation will take place at the next meeting.

The nomination of a delegate and alternate to represent the council at the convention of the society which will take place in Holyoke, during the coming September was postponed until the first regular meeting in August. The election and installation will take place at the same meeting.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

For the coming week, the Adam Good company offer a good play in "Foggy Ferry," a lively comedy drama, with a soubrette leading role. Its scenes are laid in the South, the land of hospitality and its people are all true types of southern life. Unlike the majority of plays whose scenes are laid south of the Mason and Dixon line, it has not the Civil war as a theme, nor is it a moonshiner play, but is a heart touching story of life in Alabama at the time of the reconstruction.

The author worked out the story, there is not a dull moment in the entire four acts. The play is particularly rich in comedy, and is well calculated to please all classes of play goers. Bessie Overton will surely score a hit as "Foggy" the belle of the old ferry, and the other members of the company will have prominent roles. As usual there will be some good specialties between acts.

Lowell Man Attended Big Airship Inspected Meeting at Fall River by Lieut. Lohm

CAPTAIN BALDWIN IS CONFIDENT

That Machine Will Meet Requirements

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Today Lieut. Frank Lohm, the leading aeronaut of the army is inspecting the various parts of the Baldwin airship which arrived at Fort Meyer on Saturday and will submit his report to Gen. Allen, chief signal officer of the army probably tomorrow. This inspection is for the purpose of determining whether Captain Baldwin's craft fulfills all the requirements with regard to strength, weight and stability. Captain Baldwin is confident that his machine will more than meet the requirements and General Allen and the other corps officials seem to be of a like opinion. Lieut. Lohm made an inspection of the gas bag and other parts while in course of manufacture at Hammondsport, N. Y., and last night his report proved satisfactory to the chief signal officer. The specifications for a dirigible balloon published by the War Department and which resulted in Captain Baldwin being selected as the successful bidder are exacting. They embody the latest features of successful dirigible balloons in this country, and abroad and while the requirements are severe the specifications were drawn up with all fairness to the inventors.

A preliminary draft of the specifications which had been prepared in the signal corps office was sent to the leading aeronauts throughout the country with a request that they make any suggestions for the improvement of the specifications and with the cooperation of leading authorities in aerodynamics residing in Washington the final form for the specifications was drafted. Captain Baldwin will probably make the first preliminary flight August 1.

LOCKED IN JAIL

William Walker, Missing Banker, Reaches Home

HARTFORD, Conn., July 25.—William F. Walker, who embezzled $55,000 from the Savings Bank of New Britain and about $35,000 from the Connecticut Baptist convention, reached this city last night in custody of Thomas F. Egan, superintendent of the state police department, and H. G. Hoffman, assistant superintendent of the Pinkerton detective agency in Los Angeles, Calif. The man who arrested Walker in a mining camp 100 miles south of Ensenada, Mexico. Walker was locked up in the steel cage of the county building for the night under the guard of five officers and he will be brought before Judge Shumway in the supreme court today. On his way east, with the detective, Walker told them that he would plead guilty when arraigned.

Walker, when asked by a representative of the Associated Press, refused to tell what he had done with the money, saying that he put it into what he considered to be a good investment, his judgment being based on a long experience as a successful banker. Walker said he would not have fought extradition, but for the fact that he did not want to bring additional trouble to his family and relatives and he only himself to consider he would gladly have returned without opposition as soon as arrested.

Walker absconded from New Britain on February 8, 1907, and was arrested in Mexico on December 10 of the same year. His flight against extradition has delayed his being brought to this state until now. Walker said that he has a lawyer and that he expects to have none and that as a matter of justice to himself he should first make a full statement to the prosecution, and this he proposes to do when arraigned in court.

KICKED DRIVER

Crazed Horse Injured
Brockton Fireman

HURLED THROUGH THE DOOR

Goodell Was Bathing
Horse's Leg

BROCKTON, July 25.—Fireman W. C. Goodell of station 2 had a frightful experience with a crazed horse at the station yesterday, the animal, usually gentle and docile, having turned rogue because of the pain from a wound Goodell was attempting to bathe.

Goodell is the driver of the pair of which this horse is one, and without hesitation he entered the box stall with a pail of water and a healing lotion to dress a sore on one of the hind legs.

When the cold water touched the sensitive spot the horse raised his heels and kicked backwards with terrific force. The pail which Goodell was carrying was shattered to fragments, and he was thrown heavily against the wall.

He attempted to rise, but the floor was slippery and the big horse, as if by design fell upon him.

In this perilous position, scarcely able to breathe, Goodell lay for a short time. Then the horse got up and again dashed his hoofs against the fireman, who was staggering to his feet, sending Goodell through the door, where he landed and fell senseless.

He was taken to his home at 8 Millot street and his wounds dressed. No bones are broken and he will recover. He has a wound on one arm caused, he says, by the horse's hoofs.

ABRAHAM ADAMS

Has Produced New Kind
of Wheat

HE RIVALS LUTHER BURBANK

As Scientific Producer of New Species

Every one who knows anything about farming or gardening, even in the remotest degree, and many others besides, know about Luther Burbank, the wonderful manipulator of nature's products, and the great things he has done to create new varieties in fruits and flowers, country and world at large, the most wonderful thing ever accomplished in Idaho, who has performed almost a miracle with wheat, and made it possible to increase the wheat crop of ten fold.

While it has not been generally known, many governments through their scientists have been striving for many years to avert a world famine. "How asks Sir William Crookes, who shows by statistics that the average yield per acre of wheat for the world is only 12.7 bushels. Yet after years of skillful trial to perfect wheat bearing only a trifle of experiments by this Idaho farmer, who has been able to produce a wheat perfectly adapted to the soil of the West, here is a most marvelous thing, but actually Mr. Adams in 1904, succeeded in getting a single head of wheat, that sat of wheat he planted in the fall of that year and in the following summer, he secured seven pounds of the wheat. This 1906 and he secured in the spring of 1907, 7845 pounds. Here was a wheat yielding at the rate of 22 bushels to the acre. This wheat was planted in the fall and during winter, but had weather not fit to harvest, yet the new wheat from these statements, it is easy to find, it is a wheat that is not only hardy to light frost and also withstands the heaviest hail, Mr. Adams' wonderful sturdiness. But the wonder of government station, yet to come. On a field that this wonderful wheat was found. It is therefore, a wheat that succeeds equally well as winter or spring wheat, and in both plantings will grade No. 1 hard.

This means an absolute revolution in less acres of California, where only soft wheat is grown, can raise hard wheat. It means that in all the vast wheat region, which is greater than the growing hard wheat. It means that an average crop for the farmer but two hundred bushels to the acre, worn out farms of the east, with such manure that can afford to have farmers cause of the enormous return. It means that in time, when the seed can be distributed everywhere, the wheat crop of the world will be multiplied many times. It could have been planted in an estimated American crop of 500,000,000 bushels. America would raise for the world over five billion bushels. When this is realized, the wheat that Alaska has given in gold, pales into insignificance by the side of what the farmers will be able to lay up in wealth for the country.

Mr. Adams' wheat has been raised on dry land, under slight moisture, showing that Alaska wheat is suited to thrive in drought. In southern countries a test has shown larger results. Planted in Alabama, its leaves have attained a width of 1 1/2 of an inch. A head planted in the state showed greater results than that from the original head in Idaho.

Truly, the man who can have a field of Alaska wheat next year, no matter how small, will be more envied than the man with an automobile.

TO POISON GIRL

Attempt Made by Beverly Boys

BOSTON, July 25.—Mrs. Barnet Albert of Park street, Beverly, says that two boys about 10 years of age made an attempt to poison her daughter, Mary E. yesterday. They tried to force a green-colored liquid thought to be Paris green in solution, into her mouth.

The child was playing near her home when she was accosted by two boys, one of them held her while the other forced a vial to her lips and tried to force her to drink some of the contents. Mrs. Albert heard the cries of her child, came to the rescue and gave chase to the boys, who disappeared up Federal street.

FOR MOTOR RACE

Subscriptions Solicited
for the Big Race

To the Public Spirited Citizens of Lowell:

The Lowell Automobile club, after spending a great deal of labor and money, and having received all legal sanction from the state, city of Lowell and town of Tyngsboro, and having perfected all the details pertaining to the race, now respectfully call upon the merchants and financiers of the city for subscriptions.

We hope that everybody in this city will appreciate our labor and what this event means to Lowell, and let us prove to the country at large that this is a "city that does things."

Not only characteristic of a few, but of the entire population and that we, one and all, will help to make this event a rousing success.

The following is a list of the expenses and resources incidental to erecting grand stands, band stand, judges' stand, oiling the road, wiring off some 500 men to patrol, telephone service, and other expenses. The subscription to be paid back after the race from the revenue derived from the following sources as enumerated below:

EXPENSES.
Erecting grand stand	$ 4000
Erecting band stand	400
Erecting judges' stand	200
Telephone service, five stations around the course	250
Oiling and fixing road, not to exceed	1000
Wiring off road, 10 6-10 miles, labor and material	300
Banners across roadway at race, and in city at depot	350
1000 red and white flags	50
Caps and sashes for 500 men patrolling course	150
Wages for men patrolling course, 500 at $2 per day	1000
20 megaphones	48
25 men to sell tickets, programs and score cards, $2 per day	50
Printing programs and score cards, advertising in program to pay for same	60
Bulletin advertising, printing and distributing	2000
Incidental expenses	1000
Insurance	500
Legal expenses	500
Music	300
Total	$12,148

RESOURCES.
9000 seats in grand stand at $1 each	$ 9000
100 seats at $5 each	500
50 boxes seating six at $25.	1250
10,000 programs at 10c each	2500
10,000 score cards at 10c each	1000
Parking 2000 automobiles on six roads at $2.50 each	5000
Parking space to peddlers for sale of eatables, tonics, candies, popcorn, peanuts, etc., and advertising spaces	2000
Entrance fees, 12 cars at $250 each	3000
Revenue for vitagraph machines	1000
Total	$25,250

Should we only receive 50 per cent of the apparent revenue we would then have enough to pay all expenses, and this would mean only 5000 people in the grand stand, parking only 1000 automobiles, selling 5000 programs, 5000 score cards, and an equal depreciation from other sources.

We feel that there is not one chance in 100 for a deficit, as if it rains the race will be postponed to the next pleasant day.

We believe it a good investment for every public spirited citizen to help this celebration along, enabling our city to get a world-wide reputation, and bring in thousands of manufacturers, financiers, and sight-seers to our city, with the hope that some will ultimately locate their manufacturing establishments here or assist to finance some of our already established concerns, and besides this, a great multitude of people will certainly spend in our city many thousands of dollars during the day of the race and many days previous thereto.

We therefore respectfully hope that your checks will be willingly sent and credited to your lien on the revenue, pro rata to the amount of your subscription. Make checks payable to John A. McKenna, secretary, Lowell Automobile club and board of trade, 30 Central block, Lowell, Mass.

A guarantee subscription to the amount of $10.00 will be necessary to put this race through, and all subscriptions should be in before August 1.

WARM RECEPTION

Tendered John W. Lane

of Providence

BY STATIONARY ENGINEERS

Many Prominent Officials Were Present

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—At yesterday's meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the election of officers was the principal event.

Matthew Cummings of Boston was re-elected president, defeating J. E. Dolan of New York by a vote of 275 to 153.

Fr. Chittick of Hyde Park, Mass., placed President Cummings in nomination at the opening yesterday morning for re-election, and Rev. William M. Dwyer of Syracuse, N. Y., nominated Mr. Dolan, who held the office of president for four years. More than 40 seconding speeches were made, all of them more or less inflammatory.

When the oratory was at high tide Mr. Dolan took the floor. He said that since it had been decided to nominate officers before the adoption of a platform, he believed he should be allowed to express his views and outline in a way the kind of platform for which he would stand. He said he was for the endorsement and moral support of the Irish parliamentary party, led by John Redmond. This settled any doubt, if there had been any, that the opposition to Cummings was made up of the parliamentary party adherents.

Following Dolan, Cummings, who but now editor of the National Engineer, a scientific journal, was tendered a reception last night by the Lowell division of the National Association of Stationary Engineers in their hall in Wyman's Exchange.

Since Mr. Lane left this city he has been located in Providence, R. I., as an engineer and has been past president of the association. Accompanying Mr. Lane were several prominent engineers from out of town, guests of the local association: J. M. McGrath of Chicago, president of the association for the state of Illinois; Ole B. Peterson, Horace Hart, Frank Gardner, P. H. Hogan, W. H. McLean of the state board of inspectors, and State Deputy E. H. Kearney, all of Boston; J. H. Sumner of Fall River, and R. C. Parker and Martin Sargent of Ayer. The guests were met at the Northern station at 6 p. m. by ex-National President T. N. Kelsey, of this city, whence they were conducted to the Richardson house, where they will make their headquarters during their stop here.

The meeting was called to order at 8:30 o'clock by President Dowd, about 125 members being present at the time. After several speeches had been delivered Mr. Lane was called upon and he delivered a speech on the work of "The Engineers" in Lowell.

After the speeches there was a social hour in which the local members greeted their guests. The rest of the evening was spent in a general social time and refreshments were served. There were also several piano solos by Arthur McHugh, and songs by James E. Donnelly, all of which were roundly applauded. The meeting broke up at a late hour and was very successful in every respect.

Edgar Hawley, aged ten years, and residing in Harvard street, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon while playing in an unfinished house at the corner of Westford and Chester streets. Neighbors rushed to the scene attracted by the lad's cries, and Dr. Eaton, who lives near by, was called. An examination failed to discover any broken bones, though he was badly shaken up. The boy was removed to his home in Harvard street.

RICHARD CROKER

Calls King Edward Most Popular Man in the World

DUBLIN, July 25.—Richard Croker will return to New York this fall. Although disclaiming any intention of taking part in the coming democratic campaign, he expressly stated that he was in favor of Mr. Bryan, hoped he would win, and thought that he could do so.

"I am going back to see some of my old friends," he gave as the explanation. "I have been away four years in January and it's long enough."

It was while watching a gang of men in the hayfield at Glencarrig that Mr. Croker was shown the front page headline of a Dublin paper containing a portrait of, some smooth-shaven gentleman, labelled the Peerless One.

"So it's done," said Mr. Croker. "Well, I expected it. Bryan is a good man and the old party ought to win. But who, who's this Kern?"

After a lapse of several minutes Mr. Croker continued: "Oh, I suppose I will find a number of strange names when I return. He's from Indiana, is he? Suppose he can land the state? Yes, the republican party has been in power too long. It's time they were getting out."

Removing his pipe from his mouth, Mr. Croker said with emphasis: "What sort of men have you got over there, anyway? There's Roosevelt; he's all right for writing books, but you don't want that sort of man for president. He only knows one game. He doesn't know the top and bottom, the man that shoots craps on the corner and the man that plays bridge in his club. He knows himself and his set, that's all. 'Dye see?'"

"And Hughes? Say, that man ought to be in the Salvation Army! That's where he belongs. When is his term up, anyway? This fall? How do you explain New York standing for a man like that, eh?"

"Cut out betting! You might as well cut out eating. It's human nature to bet. All life is a gamble. That's what you've taken care to make sure of. You go to bed at night without gambling on your getting up, and you can't put a shirt on your back without going into a game of chance."

"Why, I bet Elder Hughes gambles himself, only he does it in a different way. He says to the bookmaker, you cut your way of making a living, but I won't quit. You take money on the races and you take money on the business gamble, or the law gamble, or something else. And the people of New York put a man at their head like that. I tell you men like that never ought to be let out of bed. They are one-sided freaks. They don't know the people. They are dragging the country down instead of up. They are taking away our liberty and shoving us back to the old blue laws.

"Roosevelt is the same kind. Look here, who would be elected king of the world tomorrow, if there were an election for every mother's son on the globe? Roosevelt? Hughes? Not for a minute. But who?—King Edward. That's the most popular man in Christendom. And why? Just because he's the sort of man I say ought to lead a nation—a big man, a broad man, a man who knows the whole game and not part of it, an all-around gentleman, who enjoys a fair game and understands the poor tipster in the two-bob ring as well as the rich man somewhere else doing the same thing.

"No, sir, there's more freedom, actual freedom, here in Ireland today than there is in New York. And men like Roosevelt and Hughes are the cause of it."

When asked for the exact date of his return, the reply was: "Can't tell you now. Probably as soon as racing is over."

BRYAN AND KERN HATED DEAD TOWN COURT DECISION

To Meet Committee in Chicago

Millionaire Will Provide Funeral Festivities

CHICAGO, July 25.—W. J. Bryan and John W. Kern were expected today to meet members of the sub-committee of the democratic national committee to pick a successor to Thomas Taggart as national chairman. Mr. Bryan was scheduled to arrive early in the day over the Burlington road, having left Lincoln yesterday accompanied by former Rep. John E. Osborne of Wyoming. Just whom Mr. Bryan would favor as national chairman prior to his arrival, is a matter of conjecture. Daniel Campau of Michigan, John H. Atwood of Kansas, Timothy Ryan of Wisconsin and John Lamb of Indiana were said to be the most favorably considered. Others mentioned are Ollie James of Kentucky and Grey Woodson of Kentucky. Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma was expected to be elected treasurer of the committee.

Members of the sub-committee entrusted with the selection were: Thomas Taggart, Indiana; Timothy Ryan, Wisconsin; Dr. E. L. Hall, Nebraska; J. E. Osborne, Wyoming; W. T. Brody, Oklahoma; John W. Tomlinson, Alabama; Nathan Cole, Jr., California; George Greene, Rhode Island; Josephus Daniels, North Carolina; Martin W. Wade, Iowa; Norman E. Mark, New York; and Grey Woodson, Kentucky.

MAY BE FATAL

Man Was Attacked by a Wolf

GARY, Ind., July 25.—Thursday this city celebrated the arrival of the first cargo of iron ore for its mills, and yesterday there was a wolf hunt on its principal streets.

Michael Czerebinsky, a real estate dealer, was walking down Broadway when, as he passed a hedge of scrub oaks, a big wolf jumped out at him, and before he could shoot fight the wolf had him down and was biting him.

His face and body were covered with cuts and scratches when men with clubs ran to his rescue.

When the wolf saw the army of bewildered citizens approaching it bounded back into the sand dunes and was lost in the scrub oak that covers the Calumet region. Scarcely is in a hospital and the doctors say his injuries may prove fatal.

CHICAGO, July 25.—With the ratification today by the independence party national committee of plans for temporary organization formulated yesterday by the sub-committee on arrangements all will be in readiness for the opening of the national convention of that party on Monday night in Orchestra hall.

Selections for temporary officers were made as follows:

Temporary chairman—William H. Hearst, New York.

Temporary secretary—A. Deford, New York.

Sergeant at arms—Frank Brust of Illinois.

The full national committee met today to pass on the arrangements. It was said last night that Mr. Brust had declined to accept the tentative appointment as sergeant at arms and that another might be named in his stead. As to the presidential nomination Mr. Hearst has announced that he does not desire the honor. After Mr. Hearst the candidates of greatest strength were said to be Thomas L. Hisgen of Massachusetts; John Temple Graves of Georgia and H. Howard of Alabama. Mr. Hisgen is credited with being the choice of Mr. Hearst for the head of the ticket. Mr. Hearst is expected to arrive from Europe to hurry to Chicago and deliver his "Keynote speech," outlining the policies of the party in the coming campaign.

HEARST DECLINES.

NEW YORK, July 25.—W. R. Hearst who arrived from Europe today was asked if he would accept the nomination for the presidency on the independence league ticket. If it should be shown that the sentiment of the league was unanimously for his nomination, Mr. Hearst replied:

"I cannot. I have given any word that under no circumstances will I be a candidate. I have given my word and I will abide by it."

HATED DEAD TOWN COURT DECISION

Millionaire Will Provide Funeral Festivities

Against Negroes Has Been Overruled

KANSAS CITY, July 25.—One of the most peculiar of all wills is that of William F. Norton, millionaire, of Louisville, which has been filed here.

The Norton estate valued approximately at $1,000,000, was in several parts. Because the city authorities of his ideas of a "wide open" town, Norton became dissatisfied with the city. His dissatisfaction is expressed in the words of part of his will, which follows:

"In case should die in Louisville, in active for so many years, I wish a special burial to be engaged to carry my body to Cincinnati, O. for cremation. I wish the funeral of the Pullman, which I will carry my body to Cincinnati to be well stocked with nice things both to eat and drink, and that the honor to see me well started on my last and long journey may not want for anything to ease their hunger or to slake their thirst."

"As I take about two hours to cremate a body, and while my body is undergoing the process of cremation, I wish my executors to engage, at the cost of $20, the best orchestra of 40 musicians, the best in Cincinnati, to render a fine concert program, composed of my favorite musical selections."

"It will be noticed in the concert program that there are two intermissions of 15 minutes each, and during said intermissions I wish my friends who will join with them in drinking my 'bon voyage' in champagne."

JUDGE TAFT SPEEDING ON HIS WAY TO CINCINNATI.

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—William H. Taft passed through this city at 7:10 a. m. on his way to Cincinnati where he will arrive at 1:30 p. m. today.

Mr. Taft was told on the train of the reported intention of Gov. Hughes to take a renomination should it be offered but he declined to comment on the New York situation.

Mr. Taft had desired to ask Mr. Sherman to come to the station at Elmhurst on considering the fact that the train reaches that place rather late at night and the short stay there would afford little opportunity for a conference. The Union candidate was not communitate with.

BOSTON MAN TO HEAT TRUSTEES OF MT. HERMON SCHOOL.

MOUNT HERMON, Mass., July 25.—The election of H. H. Proctor of Boston to the presidency of the board of trustees of Mount Hermon school for boys was announced today. Mr. Proctor has long been interested in the school. He is also vice president of the Northfield seminary board of trustees. Robert E. Spear of New York has been elected to fill Mr. Proctor's place as vice president of the Mount Hermon board.

THE LOWELL SUN

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, PROPRIETOR.
Member of the Associated Press.

Three Dollars per Year. Twenty-five Cents per Month

The Sun receives the full day service of THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, the greatest news-gathering organization in the world. The entire service received over a leased wire, by our own operator, in our own office in The Sun building.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily net average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1907 was

15,453

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1908.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITIES

THE DEMOCRATS OF LOWELL SHOULD PULL THEMSELVES TOGETHER AND DO SOME ACTIVE WORK IN THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN. THE PARTY IN THE NATION IS MORE UNITED TODAY THAN IT HAS BEEN SINCE THE ELECTION OF CLEVELAND AND THAT BEING SO, IT IS UP TO THE DEMOCRATS IN EVERY STATE TO DO THEIR FULL DUTY.

OF COURSE WE ARE NOT QUITE SO SANGUINE AS TO IMAGINE THAT THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN THIS STATE CAN BE OVERCOME ON ELECTION DAY, BUT IT IS HIGHLY DESIRABLE THAT THE DEMOCRATS SHALL SHOW THEIR FULL STRENGTH AT THE POLLS, SO THAT THERE MAY NOT AGAIN BE A QUESTION AS TO WHICH IS THE SECOND GREATEST POLITICAL PARTY IN THE STATE.

THE INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE IS GOING IN TO MAKE A RECORD THIS YEAR; BUT IF THE DEMOCRATS ARE ALIVE TO THE SITUATION THEY WILL OFFSET ITS UNWORTHY SCHEMES.

THAT ORGANIZATION IS PART OF THE HEARST MACHINE AND IT WILL DO HEARST'S BIDDING IN ALL THINGS OR GO OUT OF EXISTENCE.

THE FIASCO OF LAST FALL IN WHICH A DISGRACEFUL DEMOCRATIC FIGHT AT WORCESTER CAUSED THE PARTY TO BE SPLIT UP IN INDETERMINATE FACTIONS SHOULD SERVE AS A VALUABLE LESSON FOR ALL TIME.

THE INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE THOUGHT IT COULD OUST THE DEMOCRATS FROM OFFICE AND TAKE THEIR PLACES; BUT THE DEMOCRATS DECIDED OTHERWISE AND NEVER AGAIN WILL THE LEAGUE BE CONFRONTED WITH SUCH A HOPEFUL OUTLOOK. IT WILL DO ITS UTMOST, HOWEVER, IN THE COMING CAMPAIGN AND IT BEHOOVES THE DEMOCRACY OF THIS STATE TO GIVE THE SOCIALISTIC LEADERS, FROM HEARST AND HISGEN DOWN, THE GREATEST SURPRISE OF THEIR LIVES.

THE MAIN THING TO BE REMEMBERED IS TO SWELL THE VOTE FOR MR. BRYAN, TO SHOW THAT HIS CANDIDACY MEETS THE APPROVAL OF THE DEMOCRACY AND GIVES THEM AN OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW THEIR LOYALTY.

MOVE THE NUISANCE AWAY

THE TANNERY OF THE AMERICAN HIDE AND LEATHER COMPANY, IN HOWE STREET, IS AN INTOLERABLE NUISANCE ESPECIALLY IN THE SUMMER TIME.

THERE IS PROBABLY $50,000 WORTH OF TENEMENT PROPERTY IN THE VICINITY THAT NOBODY WILL LIVE IN EXCEPT THOSE WHO CANNOT GO ELSEWHERE AND MUCH OF THIS PROPERTY IS IDLE A GOOD PART OF THE TIME.

THE REASON IS QUITE APPARENT. UNLESS TO THOSE OF STRONG CONSTITUTION IT WOULD BE SURE DEATH TO RESIDE IN THE VICINITY OF THIS TANNERY ON ACCOUNT OF THE NOXIOUS ODORS EMANATING FROM IT BOTH DAY AND NIGHT.

EVEN THE STRONGEST PEOPLE LIVING IN THE VICINITY SOON BECOME PALE AND EMACIATED.

THE AIR IS POISONOUS AND IT IS AN OUTRAGE TO TOLERATE SUCH A NUISANCE. THE COMPANY SHOULD BE COMPELLED TO REMOVE THAT PART OF THE FACTORY TO THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE CITY.

THE RENDERING WORKS UP THE CONCORD RIVER IS NOT SO OBNOXIOUS AS IS THIS HOWE STREET TANNERY.

OF COURSE WE ALL REALIZE THAT THINGS ARE DULL AT PRESENT AND IT IS NOT DESIRABLE TO CLOSE ANY FACTORY THAT IS GIVING EMPLOYMENT EVEN TO TWENTY-FIVE HANDS, BUT IT SEEMS THAT WITH PROPER PRECAUTIONS THE FOUL ODORS EMANATING FROM THIS FACTORY COULD BE GREATLY REDUCED.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH SHOULD CONSULT WITH THE COMPANY IN REGARD TO MOVING THIS PART OF THE BUSINESS OUT TO THE SUBURBS. IT MIGHT AS WELL BE DONE AT ONCE AS IT IS OUT OF THE QUESTION TO TOLERATE SUCH A NUISANCE INDEFINITELY.

EVEN PASSENGERS ON THE STREET CARS GET A WHIFF OF THE ODORS FROM THE TANNERY IN PASSING ALONG EAST MERRIMACK STREET, SOMETIMES WITH STIFLING EFFECT.

THE OLD OPEN VAULTS OF LONG AGO WERE WISELY CONDEMNED AND DRIVEN OUT FOR SANITARY REASONS. IF THE MAGNITUDE OF A NUISANCE IS TO BE ESTIMATED BY THE OFFENSIVE ODORS IT GIVES FORTH, WE MIGHT SAFELY SAY THAT THE ODORS FROM THIS TANNERY REPRESENT A VERY LARGE "VAULT-AGE."

THE NUMBER OF DROWNINGS FROM CANOES SHOULD AT LEAST HAVE THE EFFECT OF MAKING THOSE WHO USE THEM MORE CAUTIOUS. BUT IT SEEMS THAT SOME PEOPLE REFUSE TO LEARN FROM THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS EVEN WHEN THE ALTERNATIVE IS DEATH.

THE BOSTON HERALD HAS DEVELOPED INTO THE MOST RAMPANT ANTI-BRYAN PAPER IN THE COUNTRY. WHEN A PAPER GETS INTO FINANCIAL STRAITS IT INVITES SUSPICION BY BLOWING HOT AND COLD FOR THE MONEY POWER.

SEEN AND HEARD

The request of people who appear in police court daily, that their names be kept out of the newspapers is growing so great at the present time that if the wishes of the offenders were complied with the public would never have a chance to know what was going on on the second floor of the building in Merrimack street. Numerous people who are arrested and fined for paying the tax imposed if found guilty, but the thought of having their name appear in the paper is what bothers them. Thus it may be shown that in one sense of the word the press does a great deal towards the suppression of crime for many people are cured in their actions by the thought that what they do will be published and read by every person in Lowell.

Now and then a newspaper, like human beings makes mistakes, and as a general rule the newspaper is ready and willing to rectify such mistakes but on the other hand people are not. The other day owing to a typographical error an item appeared in a newspaper and the absence of one word changed the sense of the entire story. As usual it was the case of a person in police court who was charged with two complaints and by accident the "not" was left out. The injured party's wrath knew no bounds and what he said about the paper in question would not appear very well in print. After the man had loosened himself of all the bad things he could say about the paper he was asked if he ever made a mistake. He denied that he was not, yet he is now willing to agree with the paper that if it wasn't for the many mistakes he had made he wouldn't be hauled into the police court so often.

What things so true as a baby's dear laughter,
Crystalline, silvery, itchingly sweet,
Headless of past, unaware of here,
After,
Tuned to the rhythm of pattering feet.Bubbling and pure as a spring on a mountain,
Light as a distillate wooed by the breeze,
Bright as a beam on the spray of a fountain,
Fresh as the whisper of wind in the trees.Ablity, delicate, gleefully dancing,
Poised as a butterfly kissing a rose,
Rippling with merriment, blissful, entrancing,
Lowliest music that melody knows.

Cease your plaining and get a move on.

and wishing never made a fortune.

Quite a few of us would succumb to the heat these days if we had the price.

The supreme court makes Judge Landis' $20,000,000 fine look like a bum nickel.

One has but to read Human Life for August to learn that Humphrey O'Sullivan is a boon companion and a man of many parts. That very artistic, sane and polished writer, Alfred Henry Lewis who is interested in that very entertaining magazine, "Human Life," tells the story of how he, his partner and Mr. O'Sullivan visited Elbert Hubbard. The story is quite entertaining.

That Major Weed, the Pacific coast rough rider and pioneer international cyclist, who made a flying visit to Lowell yesterday, is a man of wonderful endurance is evidenced by the heavy woolen garments he wears while pedaling on days when the mercury is making the century run.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Capt. Mark Casto, who became conspicuous for his work in rescuing the passengers and crew of the Cherokee when it was stranded at Atlantic City some years ago, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. The only exemption he claimed was for the Carnegie medal he received for his heroism, the intrinsic value of which he places at $200. A similar medal given to him by the Shanty Club of Philadelphia is listed among the assets to be devoted in paying his creditors. Capt. Casto places his assets at $5884 and his liabilities at $1344.

Special Agent Captain Carden says that the Thomson-Houston Electric company of Paris, France, has acquired all the holdings of the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., and that a working agreement exists which withdraws the General Electric company and the Berlin company, in which it is interested, from competition with the Thomson-Houston company in French territory, leaving only the French Westinghouse company as an American competitor in France.

M. Neymark, the French statistician, estimates the total of the world's negotiable securities, at $11,500,000,000, of which $5,500,000,000, equal to $100 per capita, is held by European countries. The remaining $6,000,000,000 is held by the United States $3,516,000,000 and to Japan $1,553,999,000.

Room 12, which is supposed to be so unlucky that the hotel has a room with that number, has never proved so for United States Senator James B. McCreary, as he has always occupied the 12 if there was a room with that number. Senator McCreary has occupied No. 15 ever since his public career began. This room should be numbered 12, but a number slipped and the lettering on the door says it is 15. Senator McCreary was here the other day and he occupied room 15 as usual. While he was in that room talking to some of the newspaper men he related some of the associations connected with that room.

"Here is where I made my start," said the senator. "It was in this room that I first came as a member of the legislature. I was green and uncertain what the future would bring forth. I came here when I was 23 years old and registered and was assigned to this room. I spent the winter here. That year I served on the floor of the house and at the next session I came back. I then took the adjoining room and opened headquarters here. I received my friends in this room, while my wife and child had the other room. I was elected speaker of the house and on my third term I was elected speaker of the senate. I still occupied this room. "Then I became a candidate for governor and after the campaign my headquarters were in the convention met. My chief opponent was Cero Gerdo Williams. I was sitting in this room. It not being proper for me to be in the convention when my wife was here, Dick McCreary rushed in and said: "McCreary, you have been nominated."

BIG CONVENTION

Of the Knights of Pythias in Boston

BOSTON, July 25.—Parades and festivities that will be well worth coming a long distance to see will draw many thousands to this city from all over the country during the week of Aug. 4-8.

At that time the Supreme Lodge and Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, will hold their 25th annual convention here, and it is estimated that fully 75,000 members of the order and their friends will attend. The event will be to New England what the Quebec Tercentenary will be to Canada this year.

The business sessions of the conventions are to be held in Kingsley hall, Ford building, but much of the week is to be given up to outdoor festivities. The parade of the uniformed rank, the semi-military branch of the order, will take place on the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 4, and will probably be participated in by 15,000 members. It will be in charge of Major General Arthur J. Stobbert, and will start from the encampment in Franklin field, Dorchester.

In the evening there will be a grand reception to the Supreme lodge. On the following day, Aug. 5, the subordinate lodge parade will be held. In the way this will be fully as interesting as the other demonstration, and it is expected that 20,000 men will be in line. The parade will start in the morning, and will be in charge of Chief Marshal George E. Wragg of Boston. Prizes amounting to nearly $1000 will be given for the best floats, most perfect marching and other features. A large number of lodges will have attractive floats in line, and an interesting feature will be a special division of the Pythian Sisters of New England. Massachusetts lodges alone will make five divisions.

In the afternoon there will be a review and drills, and in the evening a reception by the Supreme lodge.

Aug. 6 will be sight-seeing day, with a reception and ball to the uniform rank at Mechanics hall in the evening. On Aug. 7 various side trips will be taken and there will be an exemplification of the first and third rank in the evening. Aug. 8 will be another sight-seeing day, with a grand illuminated river carnival at Waltham in the evening.

The closing day of the convention, Sunday, Aug. 9, will be marked by a religious service at Union church, with a sermon by Rev. Allan A. Stockdale, grand prelate of Massachusetts.

The city will be elaborately decorated for the occasion, and there will be special electrical effects. In the public garden there will be emblematical floral designs in honor of the visitors. It has also been arranged to specially decorate the U. S. frigate "Constitution" ("Old Ironsides") at the Navy Yard.

ANNUAL PICNIC

Of St. John's Parish Has

Been Postponed

Owing to the rain, the annual picnic of St. John's parish of North Chelmsford which was to have been held today at Nahasset has been postponed. The new date has not been set yet as it is not known just when the grove can be secured.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

SOME OF THE BLESSINGS.

Fall River Globe: Among the blessings of republican prosperity the wage earners of the country are now enjoying when reduced wages, short time—when not absolutely without employment, as in the case with thousands—and a shrinkage in the purchasing power of the dollar due to the excessive prices demanded for trust-controlled articles of general consumption.

A HYPOTHETICAL QUESTION.

Spokane Review: The breweries buy hops, and Oregon hop growers, with one eye cocked on temperance and the other on the hop market, have set out to manufacture sentiment to prohibit the sale of ardent spirits, but not beer. But rye and corn make whiskey, and grapes and peaches go into brandy and what is going to happen to the prohibition cause if every grower of every product that goes to feed canbrinus, Bacchus and John Barleycorn starts out to foster his own alcoholic market?

QUIET CAMPAIGN EXPECTED

Cleveland Leader: The national campaign this year is sure to be characterized by much life and interest, but it is equally certain to be moderate in feeling and temperate in methods to a degree wholly unlike the first Bryan struggle for the presidency. It will be calmer and less bitter than the second Bryan canvass in 1900. The evidence of this difference between the former Bryan years and 1908 is already conclusive. There is little of the old intensity of feeling in formal discussion between individuals of opposite parties. There are points of doctrine and questions of policy concerning which the two great organizations are closer together than they have been in many years. Their differences are sufficient to make a spirited and instructive campaign, but not of a nature to create anything like the extreme bitterness of 1896. This relaxing of party tension and softening of old antagonisms will tend strongly to prevent any serious disturbance of business by politics. There is so little of the fire and dynamite of the first Bryan year that fears of a conflagration of an explosion of any kind will be correspondingly diminished. A moderate campaign is always less disturbing than one filled with rancor and extreme partisan spirit. It is well that the revival of industrial and commercial activity is to be thus favored by a presidential contest of only average vehemence. The country is regaining its lost ground in business with fair rapidity, but the recovery requires reasonable freedom from the distractions and the menace of fierce and reckless party strife for the control of the national government.

Reported to Be in Ill Health

BOSTON, July 25.—A nervous breakdown from which he has suffered for many months has compelled the Rev. W. G. Read Mallan, S. J., president of Loyola College, Baltimore, to retire from active college duties and seek a long-needed rest.

Father Mallan, who served as president of Boston College for five years, was recently appointed head of Loyola College, one of the most flourishing Jesuit institutions in the country. A short time after assuming his duties at this institution, the distinguished educator's health became impaired.

Father Mallan will be relieved of his official duties by the Rev. Francis Xavier Brady, S. J., of Philadelphia, who has been engaged in giving missions throughout the eastern section of the country. The newly appointed head of Loyola is well known in Boston, where he conducted a retreat for the young men last spring.

Father Mallan will leave for the Jesuit House of Studies at Woodstock College, Maryland, where it is hoped that the relief from active work will enable him to recuperate.

President Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., of Boston College, announces that the Rev. John Coigan, for many years affiliated with Boston College as professor of philosophy, who was compelled to relinquish his collegiate work in the early part of the scholastic year, owing to ill health, is in a serious condition at Poughkeepsie. The noted philosopher is afflicted with neuritis from which it is feared he will not recover.

SLIDING SCALE

Textile Council to Act on It

FALL RIVER, July 25.—A call has been issued for a special meeting of the textile council, to act on the resolution adopted Wednesday night by the Spinners' union, condemning the sliding scale. The weavers are expected to cooperate with the spinners.

Secretary Whitehead said yesterday that the feeling prevails among weavers that the agreement needs to be strengthened if it is to be continued, in order that the interests of labor may be conserved.

The executive council of the United Textile Workers of America has been in session since Thursday afternoon. It was decided to organize unions of weavers in cities and towns affected by the secession movement. President Golden was instructed to visit Lowell and make a thorough investigation of the strike of carpet weavers, on whom the organization has spent nearly $10,000.

Some Parisian Fashion Fads of Recent Origin

THE UP TO DATE TAILORED WAIST

PARIS, July 11.—The telephone service the world over is certainly one of the joys of life, but here at the gay capital it is the most unsatisfactory and irritating means of communication under the canopy. In fact, it is one of the biggest jokes indulged in by the funny man, and for a truth the service exists in name only. One of the daily papers has been busily campaigning against its mismanagement, but the administration is as indifferent to complaints as the young persons at the central office are deaf to the bell ringing of their patrons. Quite the funniest cartoon we have had for some time represents a man in a prostrate condition, with one finger on the telephone bell surrounded by his doctor, wife and children, while the former says: "Don't irritate him. Tell him he'll get the communication some day." Another story runs that a woman figured in a lawsuit recently because, in her impatience, she had insulted one of the demoielles de telephone over the line. Still another is to the effect that an irate Parisian the other day fired his revolver into the instrument in his rage.

There are lots of other things that try one's patience quite as much as the inefficiency of the telephone service, and surely one of them is the problem of how to dress or, rather, what to buy in the way of chiffons for our very variable summer days, for one has to be provided with clothes that will weather the biggest kind of a heat wave or a wind reminiscent of a snow storm. It is lovely in theory to talk of the "one really good gown" that is supposed to carry one through all kinds of sartorial situations, but the real tug of war lies in selecting that frock. I admit that it is perfectly impossible to hit on a dress that will keep one warm in a blizzard and suggest cooling things in the blazing heat of July. No, it is really very difficult to apparel oneself for our variable summers without being prepared with three different frocks for every special occasion. I am sorry to depress you, but it is quite true. It may be cold, it may be hot, and, quite as important, it may be wet. It always seems that if one is prepared for a cool summer the weather is hot, but if one is thoroughly prepared all round it is an enormous satisfaction—until the bill comes in.

The Long Sleeve.
I am just human enough to take delight in saying "I told you so" and in drawing your attention to my prophetic utterances anent sleeves now that they have come true. Long ago, quite at the beginning of the present year, I said on more occasions than one that the feature of this summer season would be the long, tight sleeve which displays to perfection the outline of the arm, the sleeve which is almost flat on the shoulder and which boasts a curved cuff that reaches well over the hand as far as the knuckles. Than this sleeve there is nothing more chic or becoming to a moderately slender woman, and with a sleeve of this genre an ultra high collar of lace or tucked net is worn with a finely plaited frill of tulle on the extreme edge. These collars are of course part and parcel of the lace gimples. Most becoming collars, by the way, for slender necks are the modified forms of the pierrot ruche. They are made, on a fitted, boned lining, about the top and bottom of which is placed a full triple plaiting of lace or net. Between these ruchings is drawn a slightly wrinkled ribbon that lies in a smart butterfly bow at the back of the neck. Such a neck arrangement will bring a last season's frock quite up to date.

ELABORATE LINGERIE

Tea at the Pre Catalan.
Every afternoon these bright July days the Pre Catalan is crowded, and the 5 o'clock tea is a daily occasion to observe the smart styles. The beautiful lawns, brilliant flower beds, flowering shrubs and wide spreading green trees, altered with golden sunshine, make an excellent background for the bright frocks and hats of the women who flock in a continuous stream between 4 and 6 to chat for awhile over tea, chocolate or iced drinks at the little green tables set in the pleasant shade of the trees. Among the charming frocks I saw there the other day was a soft blue silk costume made with a very low cut yoke of gold and white lace and insertion. With it the fair owner wore a long coat of blue passementerie and a black hat lined with blue and trimmed with blue ribbon and a huge aigret. The hat was tilted well on one side and had a high crown. Japanese parasols were much in evidence, and these eccentric sun-shades are the craze of the hour everywhere. The majority seen at the tea garden were in taffeta, plain or plaited, while some wore of thick tussore. They are Japanese in contour rather than in material and are all prettily rounded at the border. One charming example was in white mousseline de sole over the thinnest of silk foundations. The muslin was painted with small pompadour bouquets, whereas the edge was outlined with three tiny plaitings of white lace mounted on pale pink satin ribbon. This sunshade is to be carried over a Watteau shepherdess hat in cream Italian straw adorned with a large pink rose in front and a couple of black tulle ends tied in a large bow beneath the chin, which causes the hat to droop becomingly on either side. These Louis XV. capelines are to remain fashionable all summer and are the rage now at Trouville. Another fashion feature that is appearing very prominently at this resort is the useful and chic coat of white corduroy that is worn as a top wrap over all kinds of morning frocks. This coat is severely tailored and depends for smartness upon its handsome white pearl buttons which in some cases rival an English service plate in dimensions. Another fad in the coat line of a more dressy type is the jacket of crepe de chine, which is an ideal wrap for summer. It is warm enough to give a very real protection when the breezes blow too roughly, and its weight is not oppressive when it is really warm. Unlike the lace wrap, which in too many instances is a mass of embroidery, braid and insertions applied on top of its already beautiful foundation, the crepe coat is comparatively sparsely trimmed. Usually a little exquisitely beautiful cluny or Irish lace suffices.

A Remarkable Fad.
Strangest of all the queer fancies floating in the dress world is the Parisienne's fancy for calico costumes. It certainly is an extreme notion, this liking for dressy frocks made of a fabric which until now has been reserved entirely for morning wear—little frocks to wear about the house and as a uniform during the first part of the day by the femme de chambre. But if you have been lucky enough to catch a glimpse of this French calico you will understand at least the ephemeral popularity of the vogue. The calico is as soft and pliable as chiffon, and the designs are charming little stiff wreaths and roses with cuckoos and various members of the feathered tribes hovering among the blossoms. I doubt very much if any great quantity of this material will reach your side of the pond this season, for a few couturiers here in Paris have cornered the market, as it were, to make the cult an exclusive one. Still mighty good substitutes you may find in the small patterned chintzes and cretonnes.

The cut of the calico skirt is quite as novel as the fabric. It is a two piece affair in the empire style and has seams only under the arms. The waist is high and the length is a two inch sweep dipping all round on the ground. An absurdity surely for the trotting skirt, but you know consistency in clothes is not a failing of La Belle France. The coats worn with the empire skirt are loose and rather long, reaching almost to the knees. In front the jacket comes together at the bust, then gradually slopes away into a cutaway effect in the back. The large pocket flaps and deep Louis cuffs are trimmed with pipings and plaitings of the calico, for the coat itself is of linen in a shade matching the coloring in the design. The hat worn with this funny costume is even more ridiculous, for it is a Charlotte Corday affair made of the calico, with a stiff wreath of tiny old fashioned roses about the high puffed crown. The plaited frill is fitted over a wire foundation and does not droop over the face as much as the Charlotte trimming usually does. According to all the canons of sartorial art this costume should be bizarre and impossible, but in reality the peculiar skirt and fantastic coat make an ensemble that is decidedly fetching.

Speaking of art reminds me of a venture that has just been started by Mme. Lemaire, the famous artist—a "University of Arts," in which the higher classes are taught to appreciate art for art's sake. The idea is no doubt very praiseworthy, but the question arises how Mme. Lemaire will set to work. Ever since the world existed the cult of the beautiful has only been practiced by a privileged few. As to the general public, it knows the word without understanding the meaning. In painting, sculpture, literature and music it is only the sensation that appeals to the masses, and those members of the wealthy classes who are supposed to protect art invariably patronize those who belong to the category of society artists, men and women who speculate on the snobishness of their fellow creatures, well knowing that if they are taken up by Comtesse Z. their fortune is made. In the meanwhile real talent is starving in a garret. I therefore respectfully beg to point out to Mme. Lemaire that as long as art is ruled by fashion, like the gowns we wear, there will never be such a thing as the cult of the beautiful. It was not necessary for her to start a "University of Arts" to arrive at this conclusion.

CATHERINE TALBOT.

Why Our Vacations Are So Often Unprofitable

HOW many vacations are spoiled by the haste and scramble of getting away! We women sew ourselves to death, the housekeeping goes to rack and ruin, and we only live for clothes for the time being. Long threads cover the carpets all over the house. If you sit down suddenly, I advise you first to look for a needle.

The baby shrieks wildly for its bottle, and no one has time to attend to it. Mrs. Smith calls. Say we're not at home!

"Oh, my dear, I positively can't see any one today! Why, I'm rushed to death. We start on Friday, and this trunk must be ready by tomorrow! I don't know what I shall do!" And if the man of the house ventures a remark or a criticism—wo-ow! I'm sorry for him, that's all! He gets his head taken off! Then on the last day we go shopping armed with a list a mile long. This list gets lost at least six times, and each time we have nervous prostration. We never could think that out all over again. It must be found! And found it is after the entire force of the store has been called in to help and two counters have been stripped bare.

Safety pins.
Hairpins.
Invisible hairpins.
Quarter of a yard of ribbon to match sample.
Two hairpins.
Etc., etc.

Who doesn't know the miserable list of trifles which are an absolute necessity to us and which we always make out short of some absolutely vital article.

In the end we hardly have strength left to crawl aboard the train. We want to sleep all the time on our rival at the summer resort. Last, and not least, we vow we'll never do it again!

But we always do.
Now, why, oh, why, do we inflict on ourselves this typically American idea of a summer vacation which is no vacation at all, for we play the same hard game we do all winter long, trying to outshine people with more means than we have, taking away trunks full of dresses sewed by the midnight labor of our hands and trying to make people believe we came by them easily by way of Paris.

How foolish!
Shall we never learn to rest in the true sense of the word, to go on camping tours, to take little trips burdened only with a suit case—in a word, to enjoy life?

Let's try it for a change, and we'll be happier, healthier women.

Be a Sphinx.

Never tell one woman not to tell another. You might as well tell a mouse not to nibble cheese.

The best way of all is to keep secrets to yourself and never, never to say an ill natured word about anybody. It isn't kind, and, a word in your ear, it isn't polite.

Society does not like ill natured women; it is afraid of them.

You will never make a greater bid for popularity than by getting the reputation of never under any circumstances speaking an unkind word of anybody.

Every woman will love you to death, because she will trust you. The men will admire you for your cleverness. In this way you will get the friendship of the whole human race at a cheap price.

I suggest as useful piazza work (and how much of such work is trash!) the embroidering of initials on napkins. You may not need the napkins now, but you surely will at some period during the winter.

Use the papier mache initials and embroider firmly over them if you wish to spare yourself trouble.

You can say what you like against picture post cards, but I shan't agree with you. I tell you, you would never hear from some of your friends at all if it wasn't for these easy helps to correspondence, and then when you have friends traveling in Europe it certainly is nice to get one day a picture of Mont Blanc and the next of the bay of Naples. I think the European postal cards are positively sure enough works of art.

If you feel mournful in this beautiful summer weather, my dear friends, ask yourself why it is and then do everything in your power to eliminate the cause.

We are not the playthings of fate as much as we imagine. We needn't associate with people who are morose or fault finding, for instance, or allow them to exert their influence over us. We needn't be victims to dyspepsia or cruel useless self reproach. Cheer up! Remember that success is largely the ability to forget failure and remember we have a chance at success as long as we have life in us and don't allow ourselves to grow doxy or mournful.

Tea Drinking Popular.

I am struck with the great increase in afternoon tea drinking here in America. That is because the dinner hour is growing later and later. It also provides an inexpensive mode of entertaining.

Many young women in the country are making good money by opening tea houses where motorists and others can be served with little cakes, sandwiches, etc., under the trees or in cool, pleasant surroundings.

This seems an ideal way to earn money during the summer months. Have you seen the new empire back bathing suits? They are quite the thing.

One very smart model, sold for only $5.00, was of fine black brillianine trimmed with bands of bias black and white silk. These bands formed a long shoulder effect, from which sprang little kimono sleeves, also edged with the silk. The square neck was edged with the silk. The skirt was gored and set high into the full waist. In the back it fitted in still higher, and it was trimmed across the top with little bands of silk.

Black and white caps are quite the thing this year to go with the black and white trimmings. They are made double, with a Charlotte Corday effect, which is very becoming.

A Daring Bath.

I saw a rather daring costume on the beach the other day. It looked like an imported model. The material was dark red silk, trimmed with bands of lighter red. It was on the sheath order, with a line of trimming on one side, which opened with a suggestion of a split.

The first time I saw the costume the wind caught it a bit and on hearing giggles back of her the wearer hastened into the water, getting very red in the face at the same time.

The next day she appeared with the edges of the flaps caught down over a piece of red silk, which didn't match, but which served the purpose.

It only shows that we are too proper to wear the sheath bathing suit yet while.

Irresponsible Woman.

Woman's sense of business responsibility toward woman is a joke. Listen to this:

I know a charming woman who has an apartment which is rather large for herself alone. She wants some one to come in and share it with her.

Hearing of this, Mrs. Spith went to her and positively begged to be taken in, stating that she was sick and tired of living with her friend Miss Jones; that Miss Jones was fussy, disagreeable and I don't know what all, and that she wanted to make a change.

It was agreed that Mrs. Smith was to come the following Thursday. The meantime my friend spent taking down beds, housecleaning, moving her own clothes and in general working hard to make the place cozy for Mrs. Smith. The thermometer was way up in O, so it was not a treat, I assure you.

Can you beat it?

Thursday morning came, and with it arrived a sweet little pink scented note from Mrs. Smith saying she hoped she had caused no inconvenience, but she had just changed her mind and decided to stay where she was.

Can you beat it?

CHEERFULNESS CONTAGIOUS.

A smile is contagious. Perhaps you never thought of that. You know that fear was catching, that sickness was contagious, that discontent traveled like wildfire, that sickness brought sickness. We all acknowledge these things, and we all know the deadly results. Why not change the thought? Why not recognize that confidence in the future, happiness and good health are also contagious?

It was a wise philosopher who said, "Thoughts are things." It was a good philosopher who declared, "As a man thinketh, so is he." "Practice makes perfect" is a saying the truth of which is axiomatic.

Sow optimism, practice good nature, and you will reap peace, joy and contentment. No one can make you unhappy if you refuse to be unhappy. Try it and see if it does not work while.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA

Presented Medals to Winners of Olympic Contests

The Races Came to a Close This Afternoon, the Americans Winning the Final Event — Team Race Easy Victory for the Americans

LONDON, July 25.—Amid the cheers of several hundreds of his countrymen, Halswelle, the English champion, this morning "walked over" in the final of the 100 metre flat race in the Olympic games which was run originally last Thursday and won by J. C. Carpenter, Cornell university, but declared void by the judges on the allegation which has been denied by the Americans that Carpenter fouled Halswelle. Carpenter was disqualified for competing again, and J. B. Taylor, Irish-American A. C., and "Bill" Robbins of Cambridge with him and would not run today. Halswelle didn't really walk; he actually ran hard in an effort to establish a new Olympic record. His performance was a very great disappointment to his friends. It was firmly believed that the most talked of athlete in the stadium until the Marathon race replaced him in this regard, would clip at least a fraction of a second off the record of 45 1-5. Instead it took him a full 50 seconds to cover the distance. He started hard but just as in the case of last Thursday he was let out when he came to the stretch after rounding the turn where all the trouble in the previous race occurred. A great cheer went up when Halswelle finished, and the flag went up to denote a British victory. Halswelle had done what he believed to be right but the experts felt that he has hardly justified his predictions that he was able to beat Carpenter and Robbins, both of whom made better time on Thursday than the English runner made today.

THE JUMPS.
The running hop, step and jump was the only other event of the morning. Athlete of Ireland, with 48 feet 3 3/4 inches, Lawson, Norway, 47 feet 3 3/4 inches, and McDonald, Canada, 46 feet, 4 inches, qualified for the final, doing respectively 48 feet 1 1/4 inches and 47 feet 5 1/4 inches. Lawson was third with 42 feet 3 1/4 inches; Bricker, Canada, with 46 feet 3 inches, and Platt Adams, New York A. C., with 36 feet 2 inches, were awarded certificates of merit for their jump.

Several Americans, including F. C. Irwin, Chicago A. A., Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C., and D. R. Sherman, Dartmouth, competed but their jumps were behind the leaders and were not measured.

Dorando, the Italian runner who was assisted yesterday to the tape in the finish of the Marathon race and who has quite recovered from the strain of his race, against the giving of this race to John J. Hayes, Irish-American A. C., on the ground that he had been interfered with by officials of the course and that he had been left alone he could have finished without assistance. His protest, however, would have come too late for consideration and he therefore did not enter it.

Porro, Italy, won the lightweight graco-roman wrestling, Orloff, Russia, second, and Linden, Finland, third.

The middleweight of the graco-roman wrestling was won by Martensen, Sweden, with Anderson, Sweden, second, and Anderson, Denmark, third. John Hayes, the Marathon winner, visited the house of commorance this afternoon. He was introduced to a number of the members who congratulated him. Hayes is walking somewhat stiffly today. He said he was rather footsore but otherwise well.

There was a fairly large attendance at the stadium this afternoon to witness the concluding contest of the Olympic games and the distribution of prizes. The silver medalists received their tokens from the Dutchess of Rutland. The winners of the bronze medals were given their prizes by Catherine, Duchess of Westminster, while the diplomas of merit and the commemorative medals were presented by Lady Desborough.

The final in the 100 metre relay race was won easily by the American team. The German team was second and the Hungarian team third in this event. The time of the winners was 2:25 2-5.

The Americans at no time were pressed. This was the last event of the Olympic sports and the stars and stripes was the last flag to be officially hoisted, announcing a victory.

The final in the 1500 metre swim was won by Taylor, United Kingdom. Batesby, United Kingdom, second and Beaurpairo, Australia, was third.

Batesby, who was a close second, continued to the mile post and covered the distance in 24 minutes, 23 seconds, 3-5 seconds better than the previous record.

Queen Alexandra, accompanied by several members of the royal family, reached the stadium at four o'clock this afternoon.

At the conclusion of the finals in the 110 metre hurdle race and the 1600 metre team race the winners of the first prizes marched across the arena to receive their medals from the hands of Queen Alexandra herself.

Her Majesty was attended by Lord Desborough and other members of the International Olympic committee.

After receiving their medals the winners were given diplomas and a sprig of oak from Windsor forest was handed to each man. These branches, together with the Union Jack in which they were wrapped, were sent by King Edward.

AMERICAN WINS.
The final in the metre (120.2 yards) hurdle race was won by F. C. Smithson, Multnomah, Ore. A. C. J. C. Carrels, Chicago A. A. was second and A. B. Shaw, Dartmouth university was third. Smithson's time was 15 seconds which is the world's record. He came in two yards in front of Garrels.

FUNERALS.
CURRAN.—The funeral of Ellen Theresa Curran took place this afternoon from the home of her parents, 301 Central street. The funeral was very largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased. There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many acquaintances and neighbors in the vicinity where she resided.

Among the floral offerings were the following: large pillow with the inscription "Our Darling Baby" from the family of the deceased; large spray of asters tied with white ribbon inscribed "Ellen"; the autists, Miss Rose Curran and Sister Mary Gonzaga; large basket of cut flowers from grandma and uncle, F. S. Higgins and Albert Stanhope; spray of asters tied with white ribbon inscribed "Ellen"; Mrs. William McGinn; spray of asters and white ribbon; Mrs. James Hill; large pillow with the inscription "Baby" from Mr. Daniel Burke and family; spray of asters; Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hayes; large standing star on base from the Immort club; spray of pinks and sweet peas; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kane and family; spray of asters; John Daly, Jr.; spray of asters and ribbon inscribed "Ellen"; Mrs. James Carlin; large bouquet of sweet peas; Mr. and Mrs. Gardner; spray of asters with white ribbon; Mr. and Mrs. James Richards; spray of asters and white ribbon; Mr. Michael J. Rogers and family. There were several other sprays from friends.

The bearers were John Daly, Leo Burke, Joseph Shea, John Reynolds, John Burns and Charles Hunter.

The funeral left the home at four o'clock and proceeded to the Catholic cemetery, burial being in the family lot. The interment was under the direction of Higgins Bros., undertaker.

BRIGHTON RACES.

BRIGHTON BEACH, N. Y., July 25.—First race: Explosion, 55, Sweet, 9 to 10, out, won; Tom McGrath, 110, Miller, 6 to 4, out, second; Number One, 95, McCahey, 8 to 1, even, out, third. Time, 1:13 2-5. Only three starters.

HANGED HIMSELF

In the Room Where He Had Worked.

Achille Rochaleau Found Hanging Dead in Cady's Machine Shop This Morning Having Been There All Night — Had Lost His Job on Wednesday

A workman at the machine shop of George L. Cady & Sons, Fletcher street and Western avenue, upon entering a planer room in the lower end of the building about 6.30 o'clock, was horrified to see the body of a dead man hanging by the neck on a rope attached to an overhead shaft.

He quickly cut down the body which had evidently been there some hours, and at once recognized the victim as Achille Rochaleau, aged 44 years, who up to Wednesday had been employed by the concern for the past five years as a planer hand.

The body was removed by Undertaker O'Donnell and was later taken in charge by Undertaker Archambeault, who will have charge of the interment. Rochaleau resided at 5 Howard street and is survived by a widow and five children. Up to within a short time ago he had worked steadily at Cady's, but started drinking and his condition became such that it was necessary to discharge him. He was in court on Thursday and was placed under a suspended sentence of one month in jail for drunkenness. When last seen yesterday he was in a pitiable condition, both mentally and physically, and undoubtedly was irresponsible when he committed the rash act.

None could tell at Cady's when the unfortunate man entered the building but he must have gone in between the hours of 6 and 9 last evening. A portion of the help worked all night last night, and the shop was open between 6 and 9.

The room in which the body was found was not used by the workmen during the night and hence the failure to discover the body until this morning. As Rochaleau had worked in this room for five years he could find his way through it in the dark without attracting attention.

BOTH WERE DROWNED

Man Drove An Auto Into the Erie Canal

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 25.—Edward S. Bartlett, president of the Trebert Gas Engine Co. of this city, accompanied by Miss Geraldine Tumulty, daughter of a wealthy family here and driving a new automobile, mistook an alley for a main thoroughfare and drove at full speed into the Erie canal early this morning. The bodies of Miss Tumulty and Bartlett were found a few hours later, following the discovery of the machine in the canal.

Bartlett who was 38 years old is said to have been engaged to Miss Tumulty.

MAIL CARRIERS GOV. JOHNSON

Women Not Eligible for the Job

Invited to a Conference With Bryan

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Acting Postmaster-General Grandfield yesterday solved a problem which had fast become troublesome. Dr. Grandfield officially decided that a woman could not be a mail carrier without making it decidedly embarrassing for her and causing her to lose her womanly modesty and incidentally her skirts.

Several weeks ago an order was issued establishing city free delivery in the flourishing town of Idaho Falls, Idaho, and an examination was accordingly held to obtain the lone carrier to place the service in operation. The examination was held and it developed that but one applicant qualified, a young woman whose name the department delicately withheld. The civil service commission certified her name to the department and the question arose as to whether a woman was eligible for appointment.

Investigation showed that while a woman had ever been appointed city carrier there did not appear to be any legal reason why they should not and the young woman in question was on the point of receiving the appointment when it was discovered that there was a law in existence requiring the postmaster-general to designate the character of the uniform to be worn by carriers and describing it generally.

In large bold type it stated that carriers are to wear trousers, the description of which was fixed in detail by a former postmaster-general following the enactment of the law. When this discovery was made it was decided to ask the civil service commission to hold another examination. Dr. Grandfield's native modesty compelling him to abstain from asking the young lady who was eligible if she would comply with the law and regulations regarding dress.

$700 A MONTH

MARY B. TOWER IS GRANTED A SEPARATION.

WHITE PLAINS, July 25.—Supreme Court Justice Martin J. Koenig decided yesterday that Mary B. Tower is entitled to a decree of separation from her husband. Tower is decreed to pay the sum of $700 a month as alimony during her lifetime. He is also decreed to pay the costs of the action.

Mr. Tower's marriage to Mary Bogardus, formerly an operator in the Houghkess telephone exchange, occurred soon after the death of his first wife, Nina Carpenter, who had killed her son and herself in the Tower residence on the Hyde Park road, near Poughkeepsie. It was stated that the public marriage in January, 1903, was preceded by a secret ceremony within seven weeks of the first wife's death.

HIGH TAX RATE

Assessors Prepare Public for Surprise

There isn't any question but what Lowell's tax rate for 1908 will be even higher than the assessors anticipated. The assessors are reluctant to admit it but when pressed will admit that it looks like a $2.50 or perhaps a $3.00 tax rate. Several weeks ago the assessors believed that the tax rate would hold down to about $2.00, an increase of $1.00 over last year, but now on the verge of declaration the assessors allow that it may be $2.50 or over.

The causes for the tax balloon assessment include an increased state tax, the unusual expenditures and extravagance of the present administration, and the falling off in new building construction. The tax rate for the current year will be announced next week.

OBLATE FATHERS

Have Not Purchased Lawton's Residence

It was reported persistently down to this morning that the Oblate fathers had purchased the residence of Judge Frederick Lawton in Pawtucket street to use in connection with the proposed home in the old Ayer mansion recently purchased. A Sun reporter interviewed Rev. Fr. Campana, O. M. I., relative to the matter and the latter stated that the report was entirely without foundation and that the fathers had no intention of purchasing the Lawton residence or of making any further purchases of real estate at present.

The report undoubtedly grew out of the fact that the Lawton residence is now on the market. Judge Lawton having decided to reside elsewhere, probably in Boston where he has resided during the winter. The Lawton residence is on Pawtucket street between Mr. Vernon and Arlington streets, and like the Ayer mansion is a graceful brick structure with abundant land around it. These are the only two brick residences on the street.

HELD IN $400

Man Was Charged With Breaking and Entering

James C. Brennan was caught in the act of attempting to enter Robert's restaurant in Middlesex street last night, by Patrolmen Clark and Ingalls and was sent to the police station. This morning in police court he was charged with breaking and entering and attempt to commit larceny, but asked for a continuance and was held under $400 bonds for his appearance Tuesday morning.

STOLE A MELON

And it Cost Edward J. Allen $4

Watermelons are rather high at the present time of the year or at least Edward J. Allen thinks so, for he will have to pay $4 for one he stole, or else recline in a cell at Harry Shaw's hostelry in Thorndike street for a little while. Allen was passing a fruit stand in Market street last night when he spied a beautiful specimen of the juicy melon and without asking the permission of the proprietor of the place, carried it away. In court this morning it was fined $4.

LAWRENCE POLICE

Have Been Asked to Locate Miss Mauren

To Whom Bandit Killed in Boston Had Addressed a Letter — It is Believed She Went to Lawrence With Spruhde

BOSTON, July 25.—The local police asked the co-operation of the Lawrence authorities today in locating Miss L. Mauren to whom Edmund Gutman, the bandit, wrote a letter just before his death Thursday morning in Forest Hills cemetery. The letter was written while Gutman was surrounded by the police, and expressed a determination to fight. It was addressed to Miss Mauren at a house not far from the cemetery but when the police made an investigation they found that the young woman had disappeared. It was the opinion of the police that she went to Lawrence with Christopher Spruhde of Jamaica Plain at whose house two of the bandits are said to have changed their coats after the raid on the saloon on Tuesday night. The letter was in Lettish but Miss Mauren speaks English, Russian, Lettish and German. At 1 p. m. the examination of the foreigners at the Jamaica Plain station by the police was still in progress.

6 O'CLOCK RESCUED WOMAN Who Sprang From Car Into Hack- ensack River

NEW YORK, July 25.—As a trolley car was speeding through the storm and darkness of early morning today, crossing the bridge of the Hackensack river in New Jersey, Miss Louise Kruger suddenly leaped from the running board to the waters below. James Davis, the conductor, promptly sprang into the river in an effort to save her. When Davis struck the water he said it was so dark that he could not see the girl, but he swam about for several moments until he made out her form a few feet away. As he seized her she cried, "Let me die." "I want to die," she repeated. Although she resisted desperately, the conductor succeeded in getting her to the bank of the river. The girl still continued to fight, but a rope was lowered and bound around her and she was drawn, struggling, to the bridge above. The girl said that she had been the victim of an unfortunate love affair and that abandoned by her friends she became despondent and wanted to die.

ANDREW F. BURNS IN POLICE COURT

He Tried to Enter
Woman's Room

Just because Andrew F. Burns and a companion of his, who was released before the opening of the court this morning, got too familiar with a young woman residing at a lodging house at 228 Central street about midnight last night both were arrested by Patrolman Noye.

According to the testimony offered in court this morning Burns and his friend attempted to enter the room of Marion R. Smith and when she refused to allow them in Burns hit her with his fist.

Miss Smith said she was sitting in her room reading last night when she heard some person trying to insert a key in the lock of the door. As her key was on the inside the attempt to enter was frustrated, but then there was a rattling of the door knob and she unlocked the door to see who was outside. As she opened the door she saw Burns and a fellow named Halpin standing outside and they wanted to enter the room. She refused to allow them in whereupon Burns drew back his arm and struck her on the nose, the blow bruising her nose and cutting her upper lip. She said that Burns "up with his fist and gave me the awfulest crack in the jaw that you could ever give a woman."

John Pollard, who conducts the lodging house, testified to ordering Burns out of the house, but he refused to go. The court wanted to know why Pollard did not either throw him out or call an officer and Pollard acknowledged that he should have done so.

Burns' story was to the effect that the girl had invited him to call on her and when he did so she slammed the door in his face and he pushed it back and the door struck her in the face.

He was fined $15 and having the exact amount on his person was allowed to go.

STABBED A MAN And Then Horse Dealer Dropped Dead

NEW YORK, July 25.—George Strong, a horse dealer of 214 East Twenty-fourth street, had a squabble yesterday with Henry Meise of 132 East Twenty-fourth street over a horse that one had sold the other. Strong stabbed Meise with a penknife. Meise did not want to make a charge against Strong. As Meise was bleeding freely the police hustled him to Bellevue, instructing him to come back after he was patched up and make a complaint.

Strong was excited because he thought he had mortally injured Meise. The police could not calm him and in a few minutes he dropped into a chair. He was taken to Bellevue and died fifteen minutes after reaching there. He had a weak heart.

NORMAN E. MACK

Bryan Wants Him to Manage Campaign

CHICAGO, July 25.—If he will take the position, Norman E. Mack of New York will manage the democratic campaign this fall. He is Mr. Bryan's choice.

When the sub-committee of the national committee of the democratic party arrived here this forenoon it was determined to convene at noon but an informal session was held at 11 o'clock in the green room of the Auditorium Annex, adjoining the suite occupied by W. J. Bryan who arrived this morning from Lincoln, Neb. Soon after the informal meeting began Mr. Bryan joined the committee and made a statement. He said that the national chairman should be one who has had actual business experience as well as having served a long and honorable term in the ranks of the leaders of the democratic party. Stress was laid on the necessity of naming a man with qualifications as a business man and several names were mentioned including Martin Wade of Iowa and Thomas Ryan of Minnesota. Another man was John E. Lamb of Indiana. The latter declared that he could not afford to accept the place and Messrs. Wade and Ryan thought they did not measure up with the demand made by the committee. Mr. Wade suggested Mr. Mack a member of the sub-committee and it was generally believed he did so at the suggestion of Mr. Bryan who fell in with the suggestion in spite of the fact that Mr. Mack disclaimed any desire for the honor.

Mr. Bryan urged the appointment upon Mr. Mack and spoke of Mr. Mack's wide acquaintance and the fact that in business ability and political experience he measured up to all of the requirements of an efficient campaign manager.

Taking Mr. Bryan's remarks as an indication that Mr. Mack is Mr. Bryan's personal choice members of the sub-committee turned their attention to an effort to induce Mr. Mack to consent to accept the position. Before the conference was called to order it had been agreed that no decision should be made until the committee met formally. At that time it was not expected that Mr. Bryan would be present at the formal meeting and to the informal gathering therefore was attached the significance that it was intended to get the candidate's views as to who should be named.

Mr. Bryan made no speeches on his way to Chicago. He evinced great interest in the trade of the sultan of Turkey calling for a constitutional form of government. He said:

"Turkey has gone democratic. Good; maybe after a few more such nations have spoken their republican beliefs will concede the right of the Philippines to a constitution. The idea of governing people arbitrarily and outside of a constitution is un-American and now it would seem that even Turkey repudiates the doctrine."

It was after 12 o'clock before the informal gathering broke up for luncheon. It was said the formal meeting would be held after the committee had eaten.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Harry Bowman, 15 years old, when arraigned in the first criminal court, Newark, yesterday, charged with deserting his wife and two-months-old child, admitted that the complainant is his second wife, that he was married first at the age of 15 and that he had been a widower for more than a year before he ventured upon his present troublous course.

Bowman's father, who was in court, enlightened Judge Howell as to his son's romances when the judge expressed incredulity.

"When my son was 15 years old he ran away with a girl of the same age and they were married before we could get to them," explained the senior Bowman. "The girl died several months afterward. Then my son met and married this girl."

The efforts of Judge Howell and the elder Bowman to reconcile the young couple did not meet with success. Mrs. Bowman declared her husband abused her and drove her from home with her baby. Bowman acknowledged this tribute to her muscular prowess, but said she wielded the bottle on that occasion to protect herself from her husband's attack.

It was finally agreed that the couple should live apart and that Bowman should contribute to the support of his wife and child.

NEGLECTED FAMILY

Young Man Appeared in the Police Court Today

The case of John P. Killen, charged with neglecting his wife and three small children, was heard in police court this morning and proved to be one of those cases that appeals to the most hardened person in the courtroom. It was a case of a pale, emaciated woman, who is evidently suffering from a sickness and struggling to support herself and her children while her husband is frequenting barrooms. The case was pathetic, to say the least, and the poor woman testified against her husband only as a last resort that he might do better and assist her and the children.

During the course of her testimony she informed the court that a bartender in a Market street saloon gave her husband drinks free of charge and that when the saloon closed he staggered home and slept until noon.

This information caused Judge Pickman to speak about the ways of bartenders who either sold or gave drink to a man who neglected to attend to the wants of his family.

Mrs. Killen testified that she was dependent upon the city and despite her feebleness, owing to sickness, she did everything in her power to make home life happy for her husband, but he spent very little time in the house. She was willing to look after him if he would leave drink alone, but he was unable to do this and cared little for his family. She testified that the day before yesterday he came home about 1:15 o'clock in the morning in such an intoxicated condition that he spent the night on the piazza.

The court imposed a sentence of two months in jail, feeling that it would be better to have him sent away if he did not know how to take care of himself or family.

"Who will take care of my family while I am in jail," said Killen. Judge Pickman tried hard to suppress a smile, but found it impossible and said: "Who has been taking care of your family? Not you. The city has been doing it."

Mrs. Killen then informed the court that she had heard that her husband was getting his liquor for nothing at a Market street saloon. She went to the saloon in question and pleaded with him not to drink any more, but he paid for no more liquor, but he paid little or no heed to her.

This announcement caused Judge Pickman to call for Acting Probation officer Lyons and he informed the latter to visit the saloon in question and "speak to that man who sells rum over there and have him stop it." The judge said that there should be a stop put to people giving rum to men who have families to support.

The court then rescinded the sentence of two months in jail stating that it would be an expense to the county and gave Killen two weeks time to get work or make some effort to support his family.

SALOONS LOADED

For Bandits and Bartenders are Nervous

PADLOCKS ON CASH REGISTERS

And Loaded Revolvers

Within Easy Reach

we fear them but because we want to be spared the trouble and annoyance of killing and burying them.

It would be well, perhaps, to have the signs read something like this: "Abandon hope all ye bandits who enter here, for this is the Valley of Death for those who seek money at the pistol's point."

Another might read: "Bandit, back! This avenue leads but to the grave." A few of these signs would not be amiss in the barrooms for we assume that the bartenders would be the point of attack were bandits careless and reckless enough to enter here.

This is not meant as a hot-air bombast, or velvet-cushioned tribute to the splendid efficiency or great bravery of our police department, for that would be absolutely silly, and should the point of attack be anywhere outside a barroom, we are willing to swallow our head and take back everything that has been said in relation to quick deaths for bandits in Lowell.

Another look to know just what the local peddlers of the foam, sometimes known as bartenders, would do in case of a shoot up such as occurred in Boston, a representative of The Sun visited a number of the juicer parlors yesterday and, strange as it may seem, went home sober.

The reporter made the tour of the saloons and with few exceptions he found them loaded to the muzzle, and quite a number of the fellows wearing white coats and white aprons looked as if they would rather shoot than draw beer. They looked the goods and it was the scribe's unexpressed opinion that they had missed their calling. They should be getting ready to accompany Teddy to Africa.

The places visited looked more like arsenals than anything else. They certainly didn't look like hot day life saving stations.

A fellow carrying a file in his hand, entered one of the saloons visited. The fellow's face was covered with soot and he looked a bit suspicious. He raised the file to lay it on the bar preparatory to purchasing a drink but the file hadn't touched the bar before he was covered with two ugly looking guns backed by steady nerves and backed with homely faces. He was ordered to throw up his hands and he did, and all.

The excited police clerk on realizing their mistake excused themselves and incidentally advised the fellow to conceal the file and wash his face. That fellow's file, if he has any, may never know the narrow escape that was his but yesterday.

In one of the swell places the scribe, having had his courage augmented to a certain extent, made bold to ask how it was that all of the "great white" Johns had been converted into arsenals. A bar boy that the scribe threw this question at was as fine a looking fellow as one would see in a minute's walk and in whispered tones he told the scribe that the saloons are loaded for bandits and intend to do their own shooting. The cops keep away when there is any shooting and in whispered tones he said he couldn't hit a load of hay. If the bandits were handcuffed some of the cops could do a great job on them with the stick.

CREW ESCAPED
Schooner Was Sunk by a Steamer

NEW BEDFORD, July 25.—The steamer Maine of the New Bedford-New York line early this morning cut the two masted schooner Charles Woolsey of Rockland, Me., in two forward of the forecast. The schooner was bound to New York from Providence light, and the other was bound for New Bedford. They collided in Long Island sound half way between Cornfield and Horton's Point. The five men on board the Charles Woolsey were rescued.

Schooner Charles Woolsey, though a total wreck, has its loss covered by insurance under a valuation of $3,000.

The Maine had her bow damaged, and the shock of the collision worked nearly everyone on board but though considerably frightened the passengers were calm and after learning the details of the accident returned to their staterooms.

Captain Webber of the Maine and Captain Gann of the Woolsey declared today that they had their fog signals at work before the collision occurred, while the former also stated that his steamer was proceeding slowly.

The accident took place within a few miles of the place where the president's yacht Mayflower ran down the schooner Monawa last Wednesday morning.

From the statements of both captains it appeared that the fog bank was comparatively small in area although both had encountered similar banks earlier in the night.

The Woolsey left Providence several days ago for New York without a cargo. She was running up the sound with the wind about aft when she ran into the fog in the westward of the Cornfield lightship. The Maine coming in the opposite direction, picked up the fog in the distance of Monow's point light.

The two vessels came together shortly after midnight, the Maine striking the Woolsey amidships and nearly cutting her in two. The Woolsey hung to the bow of the Maine for several minutes, during which time the crew of the schooner launched their own boat and pulled away. Finally the Maine backed away and the wreck of the schooner sank. The men in the bow pulled over to the steamer and were taken on board. They had not time to collect any of their personal effects and came over the side of the steamer in their oilskins.

After assuring himself that there was no one left floating about the sound, Captain Webber ordered the Maine to proceed and ten minutes later she ran out of the fog bank.

It was found that the Maine had her bow badly dented but not stove in, that part of her rail forward had been carried away and that the forward flagstaff had fallen.

THROUGH OFFICE OF T. H. ELLIOTT

Property Brought Over $20,000

The Lane estate real estate sale of the week was made through the office of T. H. Elliott in behalf of Mrs. Stephen C. Davis, wife of the well known lumber dealer who sold to E. H. Greenburg, the Lane street real estate property, consisting of two eight-room blocks with stores, a cottage, house, car two summer house and stables, and 10,000 square feet of land. The property is assessed for $21,000 and brought considerably over $20,000. The papers were passed during the week.

BIG ESTATE SOLD.
Thos. H. Elliott, real estate broker, offers the following report for the week ending July 24:

Through this office there has been closed during the past week what is probably without question the largest individual real estate transaction consummated through any broker's office thus far in the summer of 1908.

The property in question is situated at 81, 83, 105 Lane street and 135, 145, Liberty street, occupying the fine corner on Lane and Liberty streets, and was sold in behalf of Mrs. Stephen C. Davis of this city. The property is one of the largest complete properties in this section and is assessed at over $20,000. It comprises a two-apartment house, a cottage, a large residence and stable, and two large tenement blocks and stores. It is held as investment property at present, and will also be held as such in the future. The property originally comprised the Lane estate, from the owner of which Lane street derived its name, and was built in part by Mr. Bassett. The buildings are all rented at the present time, all in excellent shape. This transaction was negotiated by Mr. George L. Hooper, the purchaser being Mr. E. H. Greenburg of this city. Mr. Greenburg will make some additions and changes in the near future, tending to the betterment of the place. It is understood that the price paid was slightly over $20,000.

NO ARRESTS YET
In the Teal Pond Murder Case

TROY, N. Y., July 25.—No arrests are likely to be made in the Teal pond murder case before the inquest which will begin next Monday. Although the authorities have been at work since July 11, when Hazel Drew's body was found, District Attorney O'Brien said nothing had turned up to warrant an arrest.

The latest theory in the strange case is that Miss Drew may have gone to Teal pond to meet a man of whom it is said she was fond. A man who is said to have made contradictory statements as to his knowledge of the case is under suspicion. Detective Reyes will have a microscopic examination made of the glasses worn by the murdered girl which were picked up on the bank near where the girl's hat and gloves were found. There was a rather indistinct trace of a finger print on one of the lenses and this will be a photographed and magnified.

Sanatorium

BALTIMORE, Md., July 25.—William B. Rayner, the son of United States Senator Rayner, who was brought back to Baltimore, after having been absent from the city with Mrs. W. H. Fisher, the wife of a banker and broker, since March last, was sent to a sanatorium yesterday by his father.

Mrs. Fisher, who, a member of the Rayner family, has been travelling all over the United States with young Rayner, was placed on a train and sent out of town.

There is undisputed authority for the statement that the couple spent nearly $40,000 in their journey out to the Pacific coast and to the Canadian border.

The couple's hotel bill at Norfolk for a few days was $80. The bills are coming in to the senator by the dozens, one bill being $100 for perfume, and another a fancy price for silk hose. It is known that the senator believes that if the couple had not been found as soon as they were, he would have been wrecked financially, and it was announced on good authority yesterday that young Rayner has spent nearly $10,000 in two years.

Mrs. Fisher was a Miss Ridgely and is the wife of William H. Fisher of the banking and brokerage firm of J. Harmanus Fisher &amp; Sons, well known here for two generations. The husband of the woman is a nephew of Judge William A. Fisher. She is the mother of three children, one of whom is of age. Mrs. Fisher is a first cousin of Mrs. William B. Rayner. The Fishers are one of Maryland's old families.

William H. Fisher has sued for divorce.

NO-HIT GAME

Hartford Pitcher Rivals

Cy Young

The Hartford Times says:

Chic Evans, the "kid" pitcher of the Hartford baseball team, went after a world's record in the game with Bridgeport, at the Wethersfield avenue grounds, Tuesday afternoon, and got it. He shut the Orators out without a hit; he issued no passes to first base and he did not hit a batsman. This means that not a single one of the visitors saw first base; also that the other members of the Hartford team played an errorless game. In addition not a ball hit by the Bridgeport players went outside the territory covered by the Hartford infielders. There was not a fly or a ground ball handled by the Hartford outfielders during the entire game. It was such a contest as is often dreamed of by the ardent baseball fan, but is seen not more than once in a lifetime. Only twenty-seven men faced Evans in the nine innings. Ten of these struck out. He fanned at least one man in eight of the nine innings, and in the sixth and ninth had two in each to his credit. Nearly all of the crowd of 1500 stayed until the end, hoping that Chic would turn the trick. He fanned the last two in the ninth inning. They were Miller, the Bridgeport third baseman, and Jerry Nops, the pitcher. After Miller had fanned and Nops went to bat the crowd begged Jerry to strike out and give the kid a chance for a record. Nops seemed determined to hit the ball and swung at it with more vigor than was ever known of him when he worked years ago in the old Atlantic league, but he couldn't connect and was declared out. After the game the crowd gathered around Evans and congratulated him on his great pitching feat. It will probably be many years before a Hartford crowd sees a like exhibition in baseball.

Evans' performance is the more noteworthy from the fact that he was knocked out of the box in the game at Springfield the day before, proving that a pitcher is not all in simply because one team in the circuit seems to have taken his measure in one game. There is no other game on record in which a pitcher in any league has gone through a game of nine innings without allowing a hit, passing or hitting a batsman, or allowing a batted ball to go outside the infield. In 1850

The Lynn News feels really sore because Secretary Morse wired Umpire O'Brien not to allow Hi Labelle on the grounds until he had paid his fine of $25, and accuses the secretary of having it in for Lynn. As a matter of fact, this action is taken in the case of every player who has been fined.—Brooklyn Times.

No player on the Lawrence team has done such good work for the past few weeks as has Catcher Dan Duggan, who is playing the best game of his career. Since the accident to George Eaton, Duggan has been doing the whole lot of the catching, and his playing has been of a very high order. He has been strong with the stick, making the biggest gain of any player in the averages for the week in comparison with the others on the team.—Lawrence Eagle.

Here are a few from the Lawrence Sun-American:

Dan Duggan still continues to find the ball for at least one hit per game. Duggan is in the best form of his baseball career, and if he continues will certainly be given a chance with some big league team next year.

Paddy Duff gave the natives a few samples of the kind of ball he can play, yesterday, and they enthused over him immediately. Duff will very likely find the going just suited to him in White-town.

Connolly has a habit of taking things too easy when he finds his team in the lead. Just as soon as he relaxes the opposing team takes advantage of him and before he knows it he is in a bad hole. Such was the case yesterday.

Thornhill, playing with the Worcester team, looks like an entirely different fellow from the Thornhill who cavorted about third street for Fall River. So much for environment.

Belave has gotten the idea that he is the "Iron Man" of the league. He lost a little bit of that yesterday and will be given a chance to lose much more before the season ends. Tacks is a good ball player and a willing worker, but he is not the only one.

It is to be doubted if there ever was a season when there were so many shifts in the New England league as there have been this year. There is hardly a team in the league that has not shunted some players about or received some. Very few of the men have gone out of the league who have been released from the various clubs.

Manager Winn still thinks that Lowell will be in first division before the season ends. Lowell is certainly fighting hard but a little loosening of the purse strings would be more for the good of the team than anything else.

NELSON - GANS

To Meet in 45 Round
Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Jimmy Coffroth last night practically signed Joe Gans and Battling Nelson for a 45-round battle to decide the lightweight championship in his Colma arena on the afternoon of Sept. 3.

Willus Britt, representing the Dane, held out for the big end of the money, and to prevent the match slipping through his hands Coffroth guaranteed Nelson 60 per cent. of the gross receipts, with an additional 10 per cent. of the promoter's share.

It is expected the match will be ratified today or Monday upon the return of Ben Selig, who has charge of the ex-champion's affairs.

HIT "TOO HARD"

KID MCCOY SENDS MAHER TO THE FLOOR.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The benefit of the Mother's Seaside Rest at Coney Island, held under the auspices of the Coliseum A. C. in Harlem last night was a success. Five thousand men and women helped to make it one. The most elite that has ever seen two boxers in the ring.

Only one thing happened to cast a momentary gloom over the proceedings. That was when Kid McCoy hit Peter Maher "too hard." In the second round McCoy caused Maher to hit the floor. The gallant Kid immediately apologized for his carelessness, and was presented with a large bouquet of roses.

Among other pugilistic celebrities who contributed toward the success of the benefit by appearing in action in the ring were Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Jim Donovan, Leach Cross and Battling Hurley, Charley Murphy and Jack Goodman and others.

Mac Harris and May McGregor wrestled for 15 minutes without either being able to gain a fall. All Broadway was represented, and many actors and actresses attended.

AL. KAUFMAN

GAVE BATTLING JOHNSON A BAD BEATING.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 25.—Al Kaufman gave Battling Johnson a unmerciful beating last night at Tom Carey's pavilion, the bout being stopped by Referee Charley Eytan in the tenth round, when a smash from Kaufman's right knocked all of Johnson's front teeth out.

Johnson failed to score except in the fourth round, when he reached Kaufman's stomach several times with hard blows. During the remainder of the fight Johnson was punished severely. Tim Tremble defeated Billy Morris in the preliminary.

Time is the Test

The Testimony of Lowell People

Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Lowell people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Lizzie Nevins, proprietor of grocery and variety store at 129 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass., says: "Some six years ago I gave for publication a statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills after they cured me of backache which had annoyed me off and on for some time. Today I can state that the cure has been permanent. I have since known others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills through my recommendation and received great benefit. I procured them at Ellingwood &amp; Co.'s drug store."

PRESIDENT'S TALK

Not Believed to Be Contempt of Court

JUDGE GROSSCUP

SAYS COMMENT DOES NOT DISTURB HIM.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Peter S. Grosscup of Chicago, one of the three judges of the U. S. court of appeals who were censured by President Roosevelt for their reversal of Judge Landis' decision by which the Standard Oil company had been fined $25,000, happened to be in New York yesterday morning.

A reporter saw Judge Grosscup just as he was starting for an automobile tour of the Berkshires and White mountains. Sitting in his room at the Waldorf-Astoria, the Chicago jurist dictated this answer to the strictures that had been passed upon him and his associates by the president of the United States:

"I am a good all-around lawyer who had studied this case said that the opinion would have been different in the case of a weaker defendant. I might have been somewhat disturbed, but the comment of the president yesterday does not disturb me."

The government officials who discussed the matter did not intend anything they said for publication. Not one of them was prepared to leave office by way of the president's official box.

As a general rule, it is not contempt of court for anybody to criticize the act of a court after a case is completed. The only thing to be avoided is an imputation that the judge or judges were influenced by corrupt motives. There is nothing in the president's language indicating any such thought on his part.

THE DEAD OUTLAW HUGHES WILLING

Has Been Identified as Edmund Gutman

MOST DEADLY OF THE BAND

THE BAND LEAVES DECISION WITH PARTY

He Was An Outlaw in Russia

Statement Given Out by Him

SARANAC INN, N. Y., July 25.—Gov. Charles E. Hughes will accept a renomination if the republican party of this state desires him to again be its candidate.

In a statement made public last night, the governor so declared himself and defined the reasons which he says are responsible for the action. The statement is intended as a reply to the many inquiries received by the governor regarding his attitude toward a renomination.

In making his announcement, the governor furnished this statement: "I have received so many inquiries as to my attitude toward a renomination that I have decided to make the following statement: 'Some time ago, I said privately that I did not desire a renomination and that I felt that I could not undertake to serve a second term. This, however, was for reasons entirely personal. Upon further reflection I am convinced that I have no right to regard these reasons as controlling and that if renominated I ought to accept.'"

MOST DEADLY OF BAND.

Gutman, now lying dead at the City hospital morgue, if not the leader of this band which left such a sanguinary trail, was conspicuous in the party for his courage and deadly daring, and when all the known facts of his career were assembled last night the police were satisfied that a dangerous character had been eliminated from the community.

Gutman, some of the identifying witnesses say, was the desperado who did all of the shooting during that running fight. At midnight, night, from Central street through Chills, Lee and Keyes streets, across a section of Franklin park and along Morton street to Forest Hills cemetery.

Gutman, the cooler of the two yeg-men in flight, worked his weapon constantly upon those whom he feared might interfere, while his companion, whom he was continuously reloading the pistols as fast as the magazines were emptied.

This companion, the police believe, may have been Francisco Sperduto, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on the Needham road, Dedham, with Sepa Pasquale.

NOLAN IDENTIFIES SPERDUTO.

John Nolan, who was shot in the side while in Cunningham field as the yeg-men were crossing from Chills to Lee streets, Wednesday night, yesterday positively identified Gutman as the man who fired at him.

Sperduto, Mr. Nolan asserted with equal emphasis, was the associate of the other man, the man whom he saw reloading the pistol and passing it to Gutman.

If Mr. Nolan's identification is accurate, the two outlaws in Wednesday night's running fight have been accounted for, one being dead and the second secured in a cell in the Jamaica Plain police station.

MIKADO'S RACE

He Had Lively Battle With Hobson

NASHUA, N. H., July 25.—Two classes yesterday, the 218 pace and 2:40 trot, closed the first week of the July meeting here. There was a large attendance, many being interested in the pace, which had nine starters.

Mikado, driven by Harding, was the favorite in this class, but was hard pressed in all heats by Hobson, a Connecticut horse. Mardell, a half-brother to Maj. Delmar, finished only fifth.

Jakie, driven by Brewster, took the 2:40 trot in three straight, after Finmea, the favorite, had led under the wire in the first two heats. The judges were dissatisfied with the manner in which Laroek drove J. C. L., and they put up Harding for one heat.

The classes for next week closed last night with a good list of entries for the four days. Many of the horses here will remain and others are coming, many from Billgrove.

RICHARD CROKER

Calls King Edward Most Popular Man in the World

DUBLIN, July 25.—Richard Croker will return to New York this fall. Although disclaiming any intention of taking part in the coming democratic campaign, he expressly stated that he was in favor of Mr. Bryan, hoped he would win, and thought that he could do so.

"I am going back to see some of my old friends," he gave as the explanation. "I have been away four years in January and it's long enough."

It was while watching a gang of men in the hayfield at Glencairn that Mr. Croker was shown the front page headline of a Dublin paper containing a portrait of some smooth-shaven gentleman, labelled the Peerless One.

"So it's done," said Mr. Croker. "Well, I expected it. Bryan is a good man and the old party ought to win. But who, who's this Kern?"

"Oh, I suppose I will find a number of strange names when I return. He's from Indiana, is he? Suppose he can land the state? Yes, the republican party has been in power too long it's time they were getting out."

Removing his pipe from his mouth, Mr. Croker said with emphasis:

"What sort of men have you got over there, anyway? There's Roosevelt, he's all right for writing books, but you don't want that sort of man for president. He doesn't know the top and bottom, the man that shoots craps on the corner and the man that plays bridge in his club. He knows himself and his set, that's all. Does he?"

"And Hughes! Say, that man ought to be in the Salvation Army! That's where he belongs. When is his term up, anyway? This fall? How do you explain New York standing for a man like that, eh?"

"Cut out betting! You might as well cut out eating. It's human nature to bet. All life is a gamble. That bay out there is a gamble. Those pictures you've taken are a gamble. You can't go to bed at night without gambling on your getting up, and you can't put a shirt on your back without going into a game of chance."

"Why, I bet Hughes gambles himself, only he does it in a different way. He says to the bookmaker, 'quit your way of making a living, but I won't quit mine. You take money on the races and I take money on the business gamble, or the law gamble—something else. And the people of New York put a man at their head like that. I tell you men like that never ought to be let out of bed. They are one-sided freaks. They don't know the people. They are dragging the country down instead of up. They are taking away our liberty and shoving us back to the old blue laws. "Roosevelt is the same kind. Look here, who would be elected king of the world tomorrow, if there were an election for every mother's son on the globe? Roosevelt? Hughes? Not for a minute. But who? King Edward. There's the most popular man in Christendom. And why? Just because he's the sort of man I say ought to lead a nation—a big man, a broad man, a man who knows the whole game, and not part of it, an all-around gentleman, who enjoys a fair game and understands the poor lipster in the two-bob ring as well as the rich man somewhere else doing the same thing.

"No, there's more freedom, actual freedom, here in Ireland today than there is in New York. And men like Roosevelt and Hughes are the cause of it."

When asked for the exact date of his return, the reply was: "Can't tell you now. Probably as soon as racing is over."

BRYAN AND KERN HATED DEADTOWN COURT DECISION

To Meet Committee in Chicago

CHICAGO, July 25.—W. J. Bryan and John W. Kern were expected today to meet members of the sub-committee of the democratic national committee to pick a successor to Thomas Taggart as national chairman. Mr. Bryan was scheduled to arrive early in the day over the Burlington road, having left Lincoln yesterday accompanied by former Rep. John E. Osborne of Wyoming. Just whom Mr. Bryan would favor as national chairman prior to his arrival is a matter of conjecture. Daniel Campau of Michigan, John H. Arnold of Wisconsin and John Lamb of Indiana were said to be the most favorably considered. Others mentioned are Ollie James of Kentucky and Urey Woodson of Kentucky. Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma was expected to be elected treasurer of the committee.

Members of the sub-committee entrusted with the selection were: Thomas Taggart, Indiana; Timothy Ryan, Wisconsin; Dr. E. L. Hall, Nebraska; J. E. Osborne, Wyoming; W. T. Brody, Oklahoma; John W. Tomlinson, Alabama; Nathan Cole, California; George Greene, Rhode Island; Joseph Daniels, North Carolina; Martin W. Wade, Iowa; Norman E. Mark, New York, and Urey Woodson, Kentucky.

MAY BE FATAL
Man Was Attacked by a Wolf

GARY, Ind., July 25.—Thursday this city celebrated the arrival of the first cargo of iron ore for its mills, and yesterday there was a wolf hunt on its principal streets.

Michael Cerebinsky, a real estate dealer, was walking down Broadway when, as he passed a hedge of scrub oak, a big wolf plunged out at him, and before he could show fight the wolf had him down and was biting him.

His face and body were covered with cuts and scratches when men with clubs ran to his rescue.

When the wolf saw the army of bewildered citizens approaching it bounded back into the scrub oaks and was lost in the scrub oak that covers the Calumet region. Scarcely is in a hospital and the doctors say his injuries may prove fatal.

The Convention Will Grand Stand May Be Erected

CHICAGO, July 25.—With the ratification today by the independence party national committee of plans for temporary organization (formulated yesterday by the sub-committee on arrangements) all will be in readiness for the opening of the national convention of that party on Monday night in Orchestra hall.

Selections for temporary officers were made as follows:

Temporary chairman—William R. Hearst, New York.
Temporary secretary—A. Deford, New York.
Sergeant at arms—Frank Brust of Illinois.

The full national committee met today to pass on the arrangements. It was said last night that Mr. Brust had declined to accept the tentative appointment as sergeant at arms and that another might be named in his stead. As to the presidential nomination Mr. Hearst has announced that he does not desire the honor. After Mr. Hearst the candidates of greatest strength were said to be Thomas L. Higen of Massachusetts; John Temple Graves of Georgia and H. Howard of Alabama. Mr. Higen is credited with being the choice of Mr. Hearst for the head of the ticket. Mr. Hearst is expected to arrive from Europe to hurry to Chicago and deliver his "keynote speech," outlining the policies of the party in the coming campaign.

HEARST DECLINES.
NEW YORK, July 25.—W. R. Hearst, who arrived from Europe today was asked if he would accept the nomination for the presidency on the independence league ticket if it should be shown that the sentiment of the league was unanimously for his nomination. Mr. Hearst replied:

"I cannot. I have given my word under no circumstances will I be a candidate. I have given my word and I will abide by it."

Following are the entries up to date: Eugene A. Anderson, New York; Protection, Amesbury; Tiger 6, Newburyport; Watch City, Waltham; Defender, Taunton; Veteran, Charlestown; Paul Rovere, Revere; Gossett, Edgewood, R. I.; Protector, Brockton; City of Lowell, Lowell; Gov. Bradstreet, North Andover; Nonantum, West Newton; Gen. Putnam, Worcester; White Angel, Salem; James W. Plunkett, Portland, Maine; Alabama Coal, Portland; Ginger, Jamaica Plain; Ohomakamist, Marblehead; Fisherman, Gloucester; Gen. Taylor, Everett; Winnie, Edgewood, R. I.; Abeyard, Edgewood, R. I.; Uncle Sam, Manchester, N. H.; Rhode Island, Pawtucket, R. I.; Converse, Malden; Hancock, Brockton; Enterprise, Brockton; Warren, Peppercell.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 25.—Judge Sprague of the superior court yesterday overruled the decision made by Judge Edwin R. Cochran in the municipal court a few days ago that negroes should not be allowed to be in the city with the prefix of "Mr." or "Mrs." or "Miss" in their names. For persistence in doing this, after being warned, Judge Cochran imposed a fine of $5 on Christopher Brooks, colored, a witness in the court. In default of the fine Brooks was committed to the workhouse. In his opinion Judge Sprague held that Judge Cochran had no more right to make such a ruling applicable to negroes in his court than he would have to make it applicable to foreigners. He ordered Brooks discharged from custody.

THOMAS J. GARGAN
IS IN A MORE FAVORABLE CONDITION TODAY.

BERLIN, July 25.—The condition of Thomas J. Gargan of Boston, who is convalescing here from an operation, is much more favorable this morning. He spent a more restful night and his pulse and temperature are normal.

THE LOWELL SUN

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, PROPRIETOR.

Member of the Associated Press.

Three Dollars per Year. Twenty-five Cents per Month

The Sun receives the full day service of THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, the greatest news-gathering organization in the world. The entire service received over a leased wire, by our own operator, in our own office in The Sun building.

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily net average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1907 was

15,453

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pillette, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1908.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITIES

THE DEMOCRATS OF LOWELL SHOULD PULL THEMSELVES TOGETHER AND DO SOME ACTIVE WORK IN THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN. THE PARTY IN THE NATION IS MORE UNITED TODAY THAN IT HAS BEEN SINCE THE ELECTION OF CLEVELAND AND THAT BEING SO, IT IS UP TO THE DEMOCRATS IN EVERY STATE TO DO THEIR FULL DUTY.

OF COURSE WE ARE NOT QUITE SO SANGUINE AS TO IMAGINE THAT THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN THIS STATE CAN BE OVERCOME ON ELECTION DAY, BUT IT IS HIGHLY DESIRABLE THAT THE DEMOCRATS SHALL SHOW THEIR FULL STRENGTH AT THE POLLS, SO THAT THERE MAY NOT AGAIN BE A QUESTION AS TO WHICH IS THE SECOND GREATEST POLITICAL PARTY IN THE STATE.

THE INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE IS GOING IN TO MAKE A RECORD THIS YEAR; BUT IF THE DEMOCRATS ARE ALIVE TO THE SITUATION THEY WILL OFFSET ITS UNWORTHY SCHEMES.

THAT ORGANIZATION IS PART OF THE HEARST MACHINE AND IT WILL DO HEARST'S BIDDING IN ALL THINGS OR GO OUT OF EXISTENCE.

THE FIASCO OF LAST FALL IN WHICH A DISGRACEFUL DEMOCRATIC FIGHT AT WORCESTER CAUSED THE PARTY TO BE SPLIT UP IN INDETERMINATE FACTIONS SHOULD SERVE AS A VALUABLE LESSON FOR ALL TIME.

THE INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE THOUGHT IT COULD OUST THE DEMOCRATS FROM OFFICE AND TAKE THEIR PLACES; BUT THE COURTS DECIDED OTHERWISE AND NEVER AGAIN WILL THE LEAGUE BE CONFRONTED WITH SUCH A HOPEFUL OUTLOOK. IT WILL DO ITS UTMOST, HOWEVER, IN THE COMING CAMPAIGN AND IT BEHOVES THE DEMOCRACY OF THIS STATE TO GIVE THE SOCIALISTIC LEADERS, FROM HEARST AND HISGEN DOWN, THE GREATEST SURPRISE OF THEIR LIVES.

THE MAIN THING TO BE REMEMBERED IS TO SWELL THE VOTE FOR MR. BRYAN, TO SHOW THAT HIS CANDIDACY MEETS THE APPROVAL OF THE DEMOCRACY AND GIVES THEM AN OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW THEIR LOYALTY.

MOVE THE NUISANCE AWAY

THE TANNERY OF THE AMERICAN HIDE AND LEATHER COMPANY, IN HOWE STREET, IS AN INTOLERABLE NUISANCE ESPECIALLY IN THE SUMMER TIME.

THERE IS PROBABLY $50,000 WORTH OF TENEMENT PROPERTY IN THE VICINITY THAT NOBODY WILL LIVE IN EXCEPT THOSE WHO CANNOT GO ELSEWHERE AND MUCH OF THIS PROPERTY IS IDLE A GOOD PART OF THE TIME.

THE REASON IS QUITE APPARENT. UNLESS TO THOSE OF STRONG CONSTITUTION IT WOULD BE SURE DEATH TO RESIDE IN THE VICINITY OF THIS TANNERY ON ACCOUNT OF THE NOXIOUS ODORS EMANATING FROM IT BOTH DAY AND NIGHT.

EVEN THE STRONGEST PEOPLE LIVING IN THE VICINITY SOON BECOME PALE AND EMACIATED.

THE AIR IS POISONOUS AND IT IS AN OUTRAGE TO TOLERATE SUCH A NUISANCE. THE COMPANY SHOULD BE COMPELLED TO REMOVE THAT PART OF THE FACTORY TO THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE CITY.

THE RENDERING WORKS UP THE CONCORD RIVER IS NOT SO OBNOXIOUS AS IS THIS HOWE STREET TANNERY.

OF COURSE WE ALL REALIZE THAT TIMES ARE DULL AT PRESENT AND IT IS NOT DESIRABLE TO CLOSE ANY FACTORY THAT IS GIVING EMPLOYMENT EVEN TO TWENTY-FIVE HANDS, BUT IT SEEMS THAT WITH PROPER PRECAUTIONS THE FOUL ODORS EMANATING FROM THIS FACTORY COULD BE GREATLY REDUCED.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH SHOULD CONSULT WITH THE COMPANY IN REGARD TO MOVING THIS PART OF THE BUSINESS OUT TO THE SUBURBS. IT MIGHT AS WELL BE DONE AT ONCE AS IT IS OUT OF THE QUESTION TO TOLERATE SUCH A NUISANCE INDEFINITELY.

EVEN PASSENGERS ON THE STREET CARS GET A WHIFF OF THE ODORS FROM THE TANNERY IN PASSING ALONG EAST MERRIMACK STREET, SOMETIMES WITH STIFLING EFFECT.

THE OLD OPEN VAULTS OF LONG AGO WERE WISELY CONDEMNED AND DRIVEN OUT FOR SANITARY REASONS. IF THE MAGNITUDE OF A NUISANCE IS TO BE ESTIMATED BY THE OFFENSIVE ODORS IT GIVES FORTH, WE MIGHT SAFELY SAY THAT THE ODORS FROM THIS TANNERY REPRESENT A VERY LARGE "VAULT-AGE."

THE NUMBER OF DROWNINGS FROM CANOES SHOULD AT LEAST HAVE THE EFFECT OF MAKING THOSE WHO USE THEM MORE CAUTIOUS. BUT IT SEEMS THAT SOME PEOPLE REFUSE TO LEARN FROM THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS EVEN WHEN THE ALTERNATIVE IS DEATH.

THE BOSTON HERALD HAS DEVELOPED INTO THE MOST RAMPAANT ANTI-BRYAN PAPER IN THE COUNTRY. WHEN A PAPER GETS INTO FINANCIAL STRAITS IT INVITES SUSPICION BY BLOWING HOT AND GOLD FOR THE MONEY POWER.

SEEN AND HEARD

The request of people who appear in police court daily, that their names be kept out of the newspapers is growing so great at the present time that if the wishes of the offenders were complied with the public would never have a chance to know what was going on in the second floor of the building in Market street. Numerous people who are arrested think nothing of paying the fine imposed if found guilty, but the thought of having their name appear in the paper is what bothers them. Thus it may be seen that in one sense of the word the press does a great deal towards the suppression of crime for many people are deterred by their actions by the thought that what they do will be published and read by every person in Lowell.

Now and then a newspaper, like human beings, makes mistakes, and as a general rule the newspaper is ready and willing to rectify such mistakes but on the other hand, and people are not. The other day, owing to a typographical error an item appeared in a newspaper and the misce of one word changed the sense of the entire story. As usual it was the case of a person in police court who pleaded not guilty to two complaints, and by accident the "not" was left out. The injured party's wrath knew no bounds and what he said about the paper in question would not appear very well in print. After the man had loosened himself of all the bad things he could say about the paper he was asked if he ever made a mistake. He denied that he made mistakes, yet he is now willing to agree with the paper that if it wasn't for the many mistakes he had made he wouldn't be haled into the police court so often.

What rings so true as a baby's dear laughter,
Crystalline, silvery, tinkling sweet;
Heedless of past, unaware of hereafter,
Tuned to the rhythm of pattering feet.

Bubbling and pure as a spring on a mountain,
Light as a thistle-down wooed by the breeze;
Bright as a beam on the spray of a fountain,
Fresh as the whisper of wind in the trees.

Aldly, delicate, gleefully dancing,
Poised as a butterfly kissing a rose;
Rippling with merriment, blissful, entrancing—
Lowell's music that melody knows.

A woman can help her husband to enjoy himself when he goes anywhere by not going with him.

Chase your pining and get a move on.
A faint heart never won a fair lady,
and wishing never made a fortune.

Quite a few of us would succumb to the heat these days if we had the price.

In very hot weather it's easier to drink than to think.

The supreme court makes Judge Landis' $20,000 fine look like a bum nickel.

One has but to read Human Life for August to learn that Humphrey O'Sullivan is a born companion and a man of many parts. That very artistic, sane and polished writer, Alfred Henry Lewis who is interested in that wonderful entertaining magazine, "Human Life," tells the story of how he, his partner and Mr. O'Sullivan visited Elbert Hubbard. The story is quite entertaining.

That Major Wood, the Pacific coast rider and pioneer international cyclist, who made a flying visit to Lowell yesterday, is a man of wonderful endurance is evidenced by the heavy woolen garments he wears while pedaling on days when the mercury is making the century run.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Capt. Mark Casto, who became conspicuous for his work in rescuing the passengers and crew of the Cherokee when it was stranded at Atlantic City some years ago, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. The only exemption he received for his heroism, the intrinsic value of which he places at $200, a similar medal given to him by the Clover club of Philadelphia is listed among the assets to be devoted in paying his creditors. Capt. Casto places his assets at $2985 and his liabilities at $7491.

Special Agent Captain Carden says that the Thomson-Houston Electric company of Paris, France, has acquired all the holdings of the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., and that a working agreement exists which withdraws the General Electric company and the Berlin company, in which it is interested, from competition with the Thomson-Houston company in French territory, leaving only the French Westinghouse company as an American competitor in France.

M. Neymark, the French statistician, estimates the total of the world's negotiable currencies equal to $25 per capita. To twelve European countries he assigns $25,000,000, to the United States $3,811,000,000 and to Japan $1,553,946,000.

Room 12, which is supposed to be so unlucky that no hotel has a room with that number, has not proved so for United States Senator James B. McCreary, as he has always occupied the room in the Capital hotel which would be the case if there was any room by that name. Senator McCreary has occupied Room 12 ever since his public career began. This room should be numbered 12, but a number skipped and the lettering on the door says it is 15. Senator McCreary was here the other day and he occupied room 12 as usual. While he was in that room talking to some of the associations connected with that room.

"Here is where I made my start," said the senator. "It was in this room that I first came as a member of the legislature. I was green and uncertain what the future would bring forth. I came here when I was 25 years old and registered as a member of the legislature. I spent the winter here and that year I served on the floor of the house and at the next session I came back. I then took the adjoining room and opened headquarters here. I received my friends in this room, while my wife and child had the other room. I was elected speaker of the house, and on my third term as a member of the legislature I again elected speaker. I still occupied this room. Then I became a candidate for governor and this room was my headquarters when the convention met. My chief opponent was Carlo Gordo Williams. I was sitting in this room, not being proper for me to be in the convention which was going on in my race, when Dick Tate came in and said, 'McCreary, you have been nominated.'"

BIG CONVENTION

Of the Knights of Pythias in Boston

BOSTON, July 25.—Parades and festivities that will be well worth coming a long distance to see will draw many thousands to this city from all over the country during the week of Aug. 4-9.

At that time the Supreme Lodge and Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, will hold their 25th annual convention here, and it is estimated that fully 75,000 members of the order and their friends will attend. The event will be to New England what the Quebec Tercentenary will be to Canada this year.

The business sessions of the conventions are to be held in Kingsley hall, Ford building, but much of the week is to be given up to outdoor festivities. The parade of the uniformed rank, the semi-military branch of the order, will take place on the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 4, and will probably be participated in by 15,000 members. It will be in charge of Major General Arthur J. Stebbert, and will start from the encampment in Franklin field, Dorchester.

In the evening there will be a grand reception to the Supreme lodge. On the following day, Aug. 5, the subordinate lodge parade will be held. In its way this will be fully as interesting as the other demonstration, and it is expected that 20,000 men will be in line. The parade will start in the morning, and will be in charge of Chief Marshal George E. Wragg of Boston. Prizes amounting to nearly $1000 will be given for the best floats, most perfect marching and other features. A large number of lodges will have attractive floats in line, and an interesting feature will be a special division of the Pythian Sisters of New England. Massachusetts lodges alone will make five divisions.

In the afternoon there will be a review and drills, and in the evening a reception by the Supreme lodge. Aug. 6 will be sight-seeing day, with a reception and ball to the uniform rank at Mechanics hall in the evening. On Aug. 7 various side trips will be taken and there will be an exemplification of the first and third rank in the evening. Aug. 8 will be another sight-seeing day, with a grand illuminated river carnival at Waltham in the evening.

The closing day of the convention, Sunday, Aug. 9, will be marked by a religious service at Union church, with a sermon by Rev. Allan A. Stockdale, grand prelate of Massachusetts. The day will be elaborately decorated for the occasion, and there will be special electrical effects. In the public garden there will be emblematical floral designs in honor of the visitors. It has also been arranged to specially decorate the U. S. frigate "Constitution" ("Old Ironsides") at the Navy Yard.

ANNUAL PICNIC

EDITORIAL COMMENT

SOME OF THE BLESSINGS.
Fall River Globe: Among the blessings of republican prosperity the wage earners of the country are now enjoying, a reduced wages, short time—when not absolutely without employment, and a shrinkage in the purchasing power of the dollar due to the excessive prices demanded for trust-controlled articles of general consumption.

A HYPOTHETICAL QUESTION.
Spokane Review: The brewers buy hops and Oregon hop growers, with one eye cocked on temperance and the other on the hop market, have set out a manufacture sentiment to prohibit the sale of ardent spirits, but not beer. But rice and corn make whiskey, and grapes and peaches go into brandy and what is going to happen to the prohibition cause if every grower of every product that goes to feed Gaius, Bacchus and John Bartleycorn starts out to foster his own alcoholic market?

QUIET CAMPAIGN EXPECTED.
Cleveland Leader: The national campaign this year is sure to be characterized by much life and interest, but it is equally certain to be moderate in feeling and temperate in method to a degree wholly unlike the first Bryan struggle for the presidency. It will be calmer and less bitter than the second Bryan canvass in 1900. The evidence of this difference between the former Bryan years and 1908 is already conclusive. There is little of the old intensity of feeling in informal discussion between individuals of opposite parties. There are points of doctrine and questions of policy concerning which the two great organizations are closer together than they have been in many years. Their differences are sufficient to make a spirited and instructive campaign, but not of a nature to create anything like the extreme bitterness of 1896. This relaxing of party tension and softening of old antagonisms will tend strongly to prevent any serious disturbance of business by politics. There is so little of the fire and dynamite of the first Bryan year that fears of a conflagration of an explosion of any kind will be correspondingly diminished. A more moderate campaign is always less disturbing than one filled with rancor and extreme partisan spirit. It is well that the revival of industrial and commercial activity is to be thus favored by a peaceful contest of only average vehemence. The country is regaining its lost ground in business with fair rapidity, but the recovery requires reasonable freedom from the distractions and the menace of fierce and reckless party strife for the control of the national government.

NOTED JESUITS

Reported to Be in Ill Health

BOSTON, July 25.—A nervous breakdown from which he has suffered for many months has compelled the Rev. W. G. Read Millan, S. J., president of Loyola College, Baltimore, to retire from active college duties and seek a long-needed rest.

Father Millan, who served as president of Boston College for five years, was recently appointed head of Loyola College, one of the most flourishing Jesuit institutions in the country. A short time after assuming his duties at this institution, the distinguished educator's health became impaired.

Father Millan will be relieved of his official duties by the Rev. Francis Xavier Brady, S. J., of Philadelphia, who has been engaged in giving missions throughout the eastern section of the country. The newly appointed head of Loyola is well known in Boston, where he conducted a retreat for the young men last spring.

Today Father Millan will leave for the Jesuit House of Studies at Woodstock College, Maryland, where it is hoped that the relief from active work will enable him to recuperate.

President Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., of Boston College announces that the Rev. John Colgan, for many years affiliated with Boston College as professor of Philosophy, who was compelled to relinquish his collegiate work in the early part of the scholastic year, owing to ill-health, is in a serious condition at Poughkeepsie. The noted philosopher is afflicted with paralysis, from which it is feared he will not recover.

SLIDING SCALE

Textile Council to Act on It

FALL RIVER, July 25.—A call has been issued for a special meeting of the textile council, to act on the resolution adopted Wednesday night by the Spinners' union, condemning the sliding scale. Other unions have taken no action. The weavers are expected to cooperate with the spinners.

Secretary Whitehead said yesterday that the feeling prevails among weavers that the agreement needs to be strengthened if it is to be continued, in order that the interests of labor may be conserved.

The executive council of the United Textile Workers of America has been in session since Thursday afternoon. It was decided to organize unions of weavers in cities and towns affected by the secession movement. President Golden was instructed to visit Lowell and make a thorough investigation of the strike of carpet weavers, on whom the organization has spent nearly $10,000.

KICKED DRIVER ABRAHAM ADAMS FOR MOTOR RACE

Crazed Horse Injured Has Produced New Kind of Wheat
(Brockton Fireman) of Wheat
HURLED THROUGH HE RIVALS LUTHER
THE DOOR BURBANK
Goodell Was Bathing As Scientific Producer
Horse's Leg of New Species

BROCKTON, July 25.—Fireman W. C. Goodell of station 2 had a frightful experience with a crazed horse at the station yesterday. The animal, usually gentle and docile, having turned vicious because of the pain from a wound Goodell was attempting to bathe.

Goodell is the driver of the pair of which this horse is one, and without hesitation he entered the box stall with a pail of water and a healing lotion to dress a sore on one of the hind legs.

When the cold water touched the sensitive spot the horse raised his heels and kicked backwards with terrific force. The pail which Goodell was carrying was shattered to fragments, and he was thrown heavily against the wall.

He attempted to rise, but the floor was slippery and the big horse, as it by design fell upon him.

In this perilous position, scarcely able to breathe, Goodell lay for a short time. Then the horse got up and again dashed his hoofs against the fireman, who was staggering to his feet, sending Goodell through the door, where he reeled and fell senseless.

He was taken to his home at 8 Millot street and his wounds dressed. No bones are broken and he will recover. He has a wound on one arm caused, he says, by the horse's hoofs.

Subscriptions Solicited for the Big Race

To the Public Spirited Citizens of Lowell:

The Lowell Automobile club, after spending a great deal of labor and money, and having received all legal sanction from the state, city of Lowell and town of Tyngsboro, and having perfected all the details pertaining to the race, now respectfully call upon the merchants and financiers of the city for subscriptions.

We hope that everybody in this city will appreciate our labor and what this event means to Lowell, and let us prove to the country at large that this is a "city that does things."

Not only the spirit of progressiveness is that the characteristic of a few, but of the entire population and that we, one and all, will help to make this event a rousing success.

The following is a list of the expenses and resources incidental to erecting grand stands, band stand, judges' stand, oiling the road, wiring of same, 500 men to patrol, telephone service, and other expenses. The subscription to be paid back after the race from the revenue derived from the following sources as enumerated below:

EXPENSES.
Erecting grand stand	$4500
Erecting band stand	400
Erecting judges' stand	200
Telephone service, five stations	250
Oiling of road	1000
Wiring of road, 10 6-10 miles, labor and material	250
Banners across roadway at turns and in city at depot	300
Caps and sashes for 500 men patrolling course	150
Wages for men patrolling course, 500 at $2 per day	1000
25 men to sell tickets, programs and score cards, $2 per day	500
Printing programs and score cards, advertising in program to pay for same	60
Bulletin advertising, printing and distributing	2000
Incidental expenses	1000
Insurance	500
Legal expenses	500
Music	200
Total	$12,145

RESOURCES.
5000 seats in grand stand at $1 each	$5000
100 seats at $5 each	500
50 boxes seating six at $10 each	500
10,000 programs at 5c each	500
10,000 score cards 10c each	1000
Parking 2000 automobiles on side roads at $2.50 each	5000
Parking space to peddlers for sale of eatables, tonics, candies, popcorn, peanuts, etc., and advertising spaces	2000
Entrance fees, 12 cents each 3500	420
Revenue for vitagraph machines	1200
Total	$35,250

Should we only receive 50 per cent of the apparent revenue we would then have enough to pay all expenses, and this would mean only 5000 people in the grand stand, parking only 1000 automobiles, selling 5000 programs, 5000 score cards, and an equal depreciation from other sources.

We feel that there is not one chance in 100 for a deficit, as if it rains the race will be postponed to the next pleasant day.

We believe it a good investment for every public spirited citizen to help this celebration along, enabling our city to get a world-wide reputation, and bring in thousands of manufacturers, financiers, and sight-seers to our city, with the hope that some will ultimately locate their manufacturing establishments here or assist to finance some of our already established concerns, and besides this, a great multitude of people will certainly spend in our city many thousands of dollars during the day of the race and many days previous thereto.

We therefore respectfully hope that your checks will be willingly sent and credited to your lien on the revenue, pro rata to the amount of your subscription. Make checks payable to John A. McKenna, secretary, Lowell Automobile club and board of trade, 20 Central block, Lowell, Mass.

A guaranteed subscription to the amount of $10,000 will be necessary to put this race through, and all subscriptions should be in before August 1.

WOMAN MURDERED

Deaf Mute Slain in Her Own Home

RUTLAND, Vt., July 25.—Miss Della B. Congdon, aged 40, a deaf mute of East Wallingford, was beaten on the head with a club and choked to death yesterday morning. Her body was found on the pantry floor by neighbors who were alarmed at not seeing her about.

The woman had lived alone on a farm some years and was highly respected.

Following an investigation by State's Atty. R. A. Lawrence, Frank Rogers, a farm hand who has served three prison sentences, was arrested on suspicion. The crime was committed while people were near the house, but as the victim was mute she could give no alarm.

IN THE PULPITS CUMMINGS WINS

Preachers and Their Sermon Subjects

Is Again National President of A. O. H.

HIS OPPONENT WAS J. E. DOLAN

Fight Over Endorsing Redmond Program

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—At yesterday's meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians the election of officers was the principal event.

Matthew Cummings of Boston was re-elected president, defeating J. E. Dolan of New York by a vote of 275 to 183.

Fr. Chittick of Hyde Park, Mass., placed President Cummings in nomination at the opening yesterday morning for re-election, and Rev. William M. Dwyer of Syracuse, N. Y., nominated Mr. Dolan, who held the office of president for four years. More than 40 seconding speeches were made, all of them more or less inflammatory.

When the oratory was at high tide Mr. Dolan took the floor. He said that since it had been decided to nominate officers before the adoption of a platform, he believed he should be allowed to express his views and outline in a way the kind of platform for which he would stand. He said he was for the independence and moral support of the Irish parliamentary party, led by John Redmond. This settled any doubt, if there had been any, that the opposition to Cummings was made up of the parliamentary party adherents.

Following Dolan, Cummings, who but now editor of the National Engineer, a scientific journal, was tendered a reception last night by the Lowell division of the National Association of Stationary Engineers in their hall in Wyman's Exchange.

Since Mr. Lane left this city he has been located in Providence, R. I., as an engineer and has been past president of the association. Accompanying Mr. Lane were several prominent engineers from out of town, guests of the local association: J. M. McGrath of Chicago, president of the association for the state of Illinois. Ole B. Peterson, Horace Hart, Frank Gardner, P. H. Hogan, W. H. McLean of the state board of inspectors, Boston; J. H. Sumner of Fall River, and C. C. Parker and Martin Sargent of Ayer. The guests were met at the Northern station at 5 p. m. by ex-National President T. N. Kelsey, of this city, whence they were conducted to the Richardson house, where they will make their headquarters during their stay here.

The meeting was called to order at 8:30 o'clock by President Dwyer, about 125 members being present at the time. After several speeches had been delivered Mr. Lane was called upon and he delivered a speech on the work of "The Engineer" the official organ of the society.

After the speeches there was a social hour in which the local members greeted their guests. The rest of the evening was spent in a general social time and refreshments were served. There were also several piano solos by Arthur McHugh, and songs by James E. Donnelly, all of which were roundly applauded. The meeting broke up at a late hour and was very successful in every respect.
